URGE STUDY OF CRIME TO FIND WAY TO END IT

Coolidge Indorses Proposal for State Crime Commissions

MUST SPEED TRIALS

Responsibility of States Emphasized in Commission Report

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1926 By Post Pub. Co.

Washington—Carrying away an endorsement by President Coolidge of the idea of organizing state crime commissions the members of the National commission started Friday on the second lap of their drive to combat organized and unorganized crime in America.

The president could not, of course, lend more than his moral support to the movement though the federal government itself is cooperating with state agencies in detecting crime but the emphasis at the meeting held here was on the responsibility of the states. The plan now is to encourage the formation of state crime commissions. In four states this has been done. New York state has created a commission by law. In Missouri the commission was voluntary. The advantage of each have been variously set forth. In some cases the voluntary commissions have had to investigate official inaction thus making it possible to avoid red tape and political expediency.

MANY THEORIES

The conferences here have developed some interesting sidelights on the viewpoints of those who are studying the crime wave. District Attorney Banton of New York after listening to some of the speeches on the medical side of crime and the need for education as a means of combating law violations, pointed out that in the last few weeks four well educated young men had been accused of serious crimes in different parts of the country. He insisted that one of the best ways to fight crime was to bring the accused to a speedy trial. He outlined the situation four years ago when those under indictment might wait a year or two for trial, thus permitting witnesses to drift away and the case to grow cold. Today he said he could bring an offender to trial in New York in a few weeks because the state legislature had provided sufficient judges and adequate machinery for the prosecutor's office.

NEWSPAPERS HELP

Mr. Banton declared that one of the most effective weapons in fighting crime was the co-operation given by New York City newspapers. He told of his plea to them at the outset to give as much space to the punishment and conviction of offenders as the stories of the original crimes. He argued that if the sub-sistents would spend their time and energies looking up the pathetic lives of the widows and orphans of murder victims, there would be less public sympathy with guilty persons deserving of death penalty.

The American Legion through National Commander Drane pledged its support to the Crime Commission as did Frank Morrison, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor who, however, pointedly referred in his speech to the provocative action of some corporations in labor districts where outbreaks of violence had occurred.

URGE CONTROL OF FIRE ARMS

One of the most interesting suggestions came from the Remington Fire Arms company which sent a personal representative to the conference to urge the enactment of uniform laws throughout the country regulating the purchase and control of firearms. The company placed itself on record as favoring legislation of this kind, declaring that the remedy for crime was not the extinction of factories making arms and ammunition but a regulation of the process of distribution. It was stated that the firearms companies were needed in the scheme of national defense and that 800,000 licensees a year were issued to sportsmen. To prevent this ammunition from getting into the wrong hands was the problem which the states were asked to solve. The National Crime Commission was urged to place the matter before 44 of the legislatures which will have regular meetings next year in order that action may be expedited.

On the whole the Crime Commission's meeting developed the immense scope of the survey undertaken and revealed that there is no intention of asking the federal government to increase its police activities but to depend on state agencies and local sentiment to assist in combating crime.

FIRE RAGES IN HUGE OIL RESERVOIR

FAKE PRE-VOLSTEAD WHISKY AT BADGER PLANT, COPS CLAIM

Milwaukee—(P)—Joseph Smoller, alleged proprietor of what is said to be the most extensive fake whiskey plant uncovered in Wisconsin, was arraigned before a United States commissioner here Friday.

The evidence which caused Smoller's arrest came as the result of prohibition agents tracing a carload of empty bottles, which were delivered by truck to Smoller's plant.

When the place was raided, it was found that all manner of whiskey purporting to be pre-prohibition stuff, was being made there. In addition to the fake liquor, it was also found that the cases in which the product was put out, were faded with domestic and foreign markings.

Prohibition agents said that fake bills of lading were also found, indicating the extent of the business.

COAL MINERS OF ENGLAND QUIT TONIGHT

Premier Baldwin Meets With Mine Representatives to Halt Tieup

London—(P)—Sir Austen Chamberlain, foreign secretary, in an address before a convention of women Friday afternoon said that the coal dispute had reached a very serious position according to information coming to him. His statement coincides with reports coming from all quarters interested in the negotiations to prevent a coal tieup beginning Saturday.

Premier Baldwin, with representatives of the mine owners and the miners, Friday continued eleventh hour efforts to find some solution of the difficulty and to prevent the entire stoppage of the coal industry at midnight Friday when all government subsidy to maintain the miners' wages at their present level expires.

A special cabinet meeting has been summoned and the government food council is considering what action will be necessary to insure feeding Great Britain's population in event of a general strike.

Miners in various sections of the country are preparing Friday to cease work.

DEMAND THAT RIFFIANS REPLY SOON TO TREATY

Paris—(P)—The Riffians have been granted one more chance to confer with Abd-el-Krim before replying definitely to the Franco-Spanish peace offers. War Minister Painleve announced upon leaving a conference with Premier Briand Friday "that the tribesmen have been given until the second or third of May."

SENATOR MOVES TO RUSH FARMERS LEGISLATION

Washington—(P)—A motion to bring farm relief legislation immediately before the senate was made Friday by Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi.

Immigrant Girl Wife Wins Divorce From Rich Mate

Chicago—(P)—The romance of an immigrant working girl and the heir of the Yale and Towne Loeb company wealth which started when they worked side by side in a factory of the latter's father, has ended in the divorce court. Dorothy Ravin Towne, a native of Kiev, Russia, obtained a divorce and a property settlement of $35,000 here Thursday from J. Merele Towne, on allegations of extreme cruelty. The two were married in Toledo, Ohio, March 13, 1919, when she was 18 years old.

Seven years ago Dorothy Ravin, the daughter of a tailor, was a bench worker in a local factory. Towne entered the factory to learn something of the business. The youth worked as an apprentice beside the factory

GRAND JURY TO PROBE CHICAGO GANG MURDERS

Order for Impaneling of Jury Is Granted Crowe, State's Attorney

Chicago—(P)—An order for the impaneling of a special grand jury to investigate the slaying of William Harold McSwiggan, young assistant state's attorney, and all other gang killings and crime conditions in Chicago and surrounding suburbs was granted to Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, Friday by William V. Brothers, acting chief justice of the criminal court.

Crowe presented a petition revealing that threats had been made against him, to kidnap his children and to bomb his home.

Previously the threats had been regarded as idle words, said Crowe, while the state's attorney's office "proceeded with unabated zeal."

Mr. Crowe was quoted Thursday night as opposing the impaneling of a special grand jury. When the slaying of McSwiggan and two of his companions, reputed beer runners and gangsters, sent the list of such slayings during the past three years above 90, civic leaders, headed by Harry Eugene Kelly, president of the Union League club; became insistent for a special grand jury with a special prosecutor.

LEAVES MONEY IN WILL TO SEARCH FOR HER SON

Omaha, Neb.—(P)—Provisions for the continuance of her futile search for her only child, Harold, was made in the will of Mrs. Emma Haviland, 53, teacher for 25 years in Omaha schools, who died last Sunday.

After completing his law course in the University of Michigan, young Haviland was associated with a law firm here for a short time. Six years ago he left, going presumably to California. Although his mother searched relentlessly for him, his whereabouts are unknown.

The disposition of her $7,500 estate provides for a five year search for her son. If he is not found within that period the residue of the estate is to be divided between Mr. Boyd Laible and Miss Geraldine Koch, her intimate friends.

ARREST MAN FOR BRUTAL SLAYING OF NEIGHBOR

Philadelphia Pa.—(P)—Police Friday arrested Daniel Corkery, 27, in connection with the killing of Mrs. Thomas J. Walsh 50 whose body with the throat and face slashed, was found in her home Wednesday. Corkery lived with his father in a rooming house opposite the Walsh home.

Police said they found a torn blood stained shirt in his room.

There was no apparent motive for the killing.

REPUBLICAN BOARD TO MEET IN OSHKOSH

Oshkosh—(P)—A call has been issued from headquarters here for a meeting of the executive committee of the Republican party of Wisconsin for Tuesday, May 11, in Oshkosh at that session the time and place for holding the state convention will be decided. The constitution provides that it must be held in May or June.

girl and after knowing each other only a few weeks they eloped and were married. Both their parents objected. Later Mrs. Constance Towne, the boy's mother of Stamford, Conn., became reconciled to the marriage.

Three years later Towne filed suit for divorce asserting that his wife had fallen in love with another man. The bill was later withdrawn and Mrs. Towne filed suit charging cruelty. This case was never heard.

Nothing more of the marital difficulties of the couple was heard until Towne several months ago brought suit here to recover a manuscript called "the story of my married life," which he said his wife had stolen from his trunk. He obtained the paper and a few days later Mrs. Towne started her present action.

Ordinance Forbids Paper In Clean-up Week Rubbish

Don't put paper with the rubbish which you are setting along streets for collection next week.

A city ordinance forbids this practice. Clean Up Week is intended only for disposal of waste and rubbish, not paper or garbage, it is pointed out.

Clean Up Week is next week. Starting early Monday morning and continuing through the week, wagons and trucks will be seen slowly moving up and down streets collecting rubbish. Four trucks and two wagons probably will be used, there-

COURT INDICTS THREE 'CURE ALLS'

Patent Medicine Companies Will Fight Case With Testimonials

Kansas City, Mo.—(P)—Testimonials from patients and the policy of refunding money to "dissatisfied customers" will be used as a defense against indictments returned here Thursday by a federal grand jury charging three companies with distributing alleged "cure alls" through the mails, defense counsel said Friday.

Indictment of the Kansas City concern is the first step in nationwide government investigation into distribution of alleged "fake remedies" through the mails. E. R. Cochran, postoffice inspector said. Fraud orders have been issued against other companies and their activities probably will be investigated, Cochran declared.

Ten persons were indicted. The medicines mentioned in the indictment were supposed to cure many diseases. "Rattlesnake oil" for deafness, and "Vitamines" to build up perfect bodies, were included in the preparations analyzed by government chemists prior to the indictments.

START WORK ON COLLEGE DORMITORY AT ASHLAND

Ashland—(P)—Work was started Friday morning on the excavation of the new Northland college dormitory which is to house 80 girls and cost $70,000. The dormitory will be paid for from funds contributed by women and women's clubs of the state of Wisconsin. It will be called Women's Home Missionary Union Memorial Hall. The brief ceremony Friday morning was opened by Dean W. G. Hitchcock, who invoked divine blessing on the building and its occupants. Following the singing of the Alma Mater the women members of the faculty and several of the girls who occupy the building started the real excavation work. The building is to be completed and ready for occupancy September 1.

DEVELOP PLANES TOO FAST, WRIGHT SAYS

Little Rock, Ark.—(P)—Orville Wright, "father of the airplane," who is here Friday for the air races and exhibitions following the start of the Litchfield trophy balloon races Thursday believes the aeroplane is developing too fast for its own good.

"The development of the aeroplane has been far faster than I ever dreamed," he declared. "I fear that its growing too fast for its own good. I know it may sound pessimistic for the common custom to cheer regardless of facts, but I have watched the aeroplane since its beginning and I fear it is growing faster than its public."

H. C. Smith, Wright's chief engineer, said the aeroplane has been flying at 100 miles per hour for the past year.

LAKE NAVIGATION STARTS SATURDAY

Chicago—(P)—Lake navigation between Chicago and Buffalo for the 1926 season will commence Saturday night. Five or six vessels loaded with grain here have received sailing orders.

SAVE ENTIRE CREW FROM JAPANESE BOAT

Tokio—(P)—Fishermen and crew of the Chichibu-Maru, numbering 259, have been rescued from the wrecked vessel on the rocks off Paramushiru, farthest north of the Kurile Islands. Safety of the men was announced in a dispatch to the Jiji from Hokkaido Island.

The Chichibu-Maru, which was a small steamer of the crab cannery industry, crashed on the rocks Tuesday, while proceeding to Kametoku. It was believed all on board would perish in the heavy storm sweeping across the islands from the north Pacific ocean. A destroyer was dispatched from Ominato, naval base in northern Japan to aid the fishermen.

LIGHTNING HITS STORAGE FIELD IN CALIFORNIA

Washout from Cloudburst Multiplies Difficulties of Fighting Flames

Fifty-seven lives and approximately $15,000,000 damage is the toll of oil industry disasters in the west and southwest this month. The record:

April 7—Two lives lost, $7,000,000 damages in three day Union Oil Co. of California gasoline tank farm fire, San Luis Obispo, Calif., caused by lightning.

April 8—Three million dollar loss when lightning struck an Union Oil Co. tank 259 miles southeast of San Luis Obispo.

April 9—Five men killed in explosion on Standard Oil tanker O. T. Waring at New Orleans.

Fire at Magnolia Petroleum Co. tank farm at Luling, Texas, caused $100,000 damage.

Twenty five men perish, $2,000,000 damage when Standard Oil tanker Thomas H. Wheeler collided with Dutch steamer Silianus in Mississippi river near New Orleans.

April 11—Five killed $1,000,000 damage in explosion aboard Gulf Refining company's tanker Gulf of Venezuela at Port Arthur, Tex.

KILLED

WILLIAM MC SWIGGIN

William McSwiggin, assistant state's attorney in Chicago, has been shot to death by gunmen. He was known as the "hanging prosecutor" because he sent so many men to the gallows.

SENATE REFUSES TO OUST BRATTON

Former Senator Holm Bursum Loses Contest for Seat

Washington, D. C.—(P)—The Senate Friday unanimously dismissed the contest of former Senator Holm Bursum, Republican for the seat of Senator Bratton, Democrat, New Mexico.

A unanimous report confirming Bratton's right to the senatorship has been submitted by the elections committee after hearing arguments for both sides. Bursum was defeated by his democratic opponent in the 1924 election by a comparatively small margin and he contended that many of the ballots were invalid.

FARM RELIEF-TO GET HOUSE CONSIDERATION

Washington, D. C.—(P)—Right of way for farm relief legislation in the house beginning next Tuesday with debate limited to four days, was provided in a resolution introduced Friday by the rules committee.

The rule will permit a vote on the three bills reported out by the agriculture committee.

While general debate will be confined to four days, it is not expected that legislation will reach a final vote for a week or ten days, owing to the time necessary for the consideration of amendments.

The time for debate will be divided equally among the authors of the three bills—Chairman Haugen, Representative Aswell, Democrat, and Representative Koch, Republican.

President Coolidge Friday transmitted the agreement to the house and senate for their approval.

WELL KNOWN NEWSPAPER MAN DIES IN INDIANA

Richmond, Ind.—Gould Copeland, 54, editorial writer of the Richmond Daily, died of heart disease and died while attempting to summon a doctor Friday morning. Mr. Copeland was born in Evansville, Ind.

He had been engaged in newspaper work since 1892. He served as editor of the Boston, Mass. Daily Advertiser from 1903 to 1917 when he resigned to make a study of agricultural conditions in the country.

In 1918 he founded the Kenosha Herald and acted as managing editor until he came to Richmond as editor of the Item in 1920.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL PUPILS GIVE PARTY

About 150 persons attended the party given by junior and senior classes of Appleton Vocational school Thursday evening at the school. Members of the faculty, the vocational school board and students of the two classes were present.

Judge Thomas H. Ryan was the speaker. He talked on The Value of Education saying that no school training was complete which did not emphasize the all round development, stressing the mental, moral and physical sides of one's makeup.

The senior class presented a large picture of former President Woodrow Wilson to the school. The gift was accepted in behalf of the school by Charles Thompson, a member of the board.

Dinner was prepared and served by girls of the home economics department. Music was furnished by Arthur Werner's strung orchestra. The evening was spent in dancing.

RECOMMEND CHANGES IN Y. M. C. A. BUDGET

The budget of the Y. M. C. A. for the first quarter of the year was reviewed Thursday evening at a meeting of the association budget reviewing committee. The committee will make its report at a director's meeting next week and will recommend revision of some items in the budget for the next nine months of the association year. Members of the committee are J. N. Fisher, James A. Wood and John Trautman.

Plans for the banquet and program which will end the contest for boys' division clubs of the Y. M. C. A. will be made Saturday afternoon at the final meeting of the division interclub council. The contest ends in two weeks.

A schedule for the interclub baseball league which will function this summer will be prepared at a meeting of captains of club teams in conjunction with the council meeting. The captains will report the most convenient days on which their clubs can play. Every club of the division will put a team in the league.

FIREMEN RUSH TO SIX GRASS FIRES

Fires Starting in Grass Burn Shed and Threatened to Destroy Garage

With the return of warmer weather, six grass fires kept the fire department busy Thursday and Friday. One of the fires resulted in the loss of a shed while another threatened a garage.

At 2:30 Thursday afternoon, a grass fire starting on the property of Thomas W. Landery, 713 S. Douglas, burned down a shed before the department arrived. An adjoining chicken coop had started to burn, but it was saved. At 12 o'clock Thursday noon the department was called to the corner of N. Mason and W. Winnabago-sts to extinguish a grass fire and firemen saw another at the corner of W. Winnabago-st and Badger-ave while at work on the first blaze. The first fire flared up again and they were forced to return and extinguish it.

At 11 o'clock Friday morning the department extinguished a grass fire at E. John-st. At 11:25 the firemen were called to the home of Bruno Blakowski, 601 E. Brewster-st. The fire at the Blakowski home was threatening the garage.

At 11:30 the firemen were called to the home of Bruno Blakowski, 601 E. Brewster-st. The fire at the Blakowski home was threatening the garage.

TRAVEL BOOKS POPULAR WITH VALLEY READERS

Valley Librarians Discuss Their Problems at Meeting in Green Bay

That good travel books, biographies and magazines are becoming more popular with the public library patrons, it was disclosed in an informal discussion of librarians at a meeting of the Fox River Valley Library association Thursday at Green Bay.

About 40 librarians from practically every city in the valley attended the annual meeting. Miss Florence Day, librarian, and Mrs. M. L. Embrey, Miss Mary De Young, Miss Alvina Ahl and Mrs. Nellie Harriman, assistant librarians represented Appleton at the meeting.

The conference opened with a luncheon at the Y. M. C. A. and was followed by an informal discussion on the general trend of new magazines and books. Judge Samuel D. Hastings, president of the Kellogg library board at Green Bay, welcomed the visitors.

After lunch the business meeting of the association was held at the new west side branch library. Miss Letta Jones, Fond du Lac, president of the association presided. Subjects to be discussed at the state library meeting in Kenosha in September were considered. Library extension and problems of library administration also were discussed.

Following the business session the association adjourned to the Kellogg public library where an inspection of the public museum and library was conducted.

RURAL PUPILS HOLD CONTESTS

Grand Chute Students Hold Elimination Tilt at Woodlawn School

Pupils of the Grand Chute rural schools are competing in a scholastic and athletic meet Friday afternoon at Woodlawn school. The program includes elimination contests in spelling, arithmetic, penmanship, declamations, songs and athletic events.

It was originally planned to have pupils of county rural schools compete in these contests on Saturday, May 8, but special arrangements were made for Grand Chute. The other contests will be held according to schedule.

Afternoon will be devoted to scholastic affairs, while the athletic events will be held during the afternoon. A county field meet for athletic events only will be held during the fourth annual county field day in Appleton on May 28.

Our commencement program is too long with so many entries, so it is planned to divide county into quarters," explained A. G. Meating, superintendent.

tendent of county schools. "A semi-final competition will be held at central place in each quarter. First and second place winners in each town will compete to determine sectional winners who will appear in the county finals.

"Winners of first and second places from each quarter will compete in county commencement contests. There may be only eight declamations and eight songs, not including duets, at the county commencement contest.

However, there will be one contestant from each town in the spelling-arithmetic-penmanship contest. If the town winner cannot come for any good reason, the winner of second place may act as alternate," Mr. Meating said.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Russell returned Wednesday from Florida, New Orleans and other places in the south where they spent the winter.

ST. JOE SCHOOL
PUPILS WINNERS IN SPELLING BEE

Sacred Heart Spellers Give
Winners Close Race in C.
O. F. Contest

St. Joseph school students defeated pupils of Sacred Heart school in a close spelling match Thursday evening at St. Joseph hall under auspices of Appleton Court of Catholic Order of Foresters. Out of 39 children competing in the contest only three missed on words and had to take their seats. Each school was represented by 15 spellers chosen after preliminary tests. Two students from Sacred Heart school and only one from St. Joseph were "spelled down." A total of 450 words were spelled during the match. Superintendent E. J. Rohan was spelling master and gave a brief talk to the students before the contest.

The program was opened with a song by the contestants which was followed by an address by the Rev. Pius Faith. After the contest Michael Kerrigan, chief ranger of the Forester court, presented a cash prize of $15 to St. Joseph team and $10 to Sacred Heart spellers. Each contestant was given an Eversharp pencil. The awarding of prizes was followed by a talk by Gustave Kellner, Sr., and the program was concluded with the singing of "On Wisconsin" by the students.

Judges in the contest were Margaret Comerford, Magdalene Kohl and Josephine Fatten. Louis Schweitzer, speaker of the court, presided.

St. Joseph school students in the contest were Arthur Dienor, Virginia Westphal, Odilia Griesbach, Cecilia Eick, Adeline Haag, Marie Tennie, Bernice Merkl, Leonie Roemer, Dolores Dohr, Gertrude Schmitz, Hildegarde Stark, Mary Plank, Ruth Stegor, Ruth Seaman and Elizabeth Wickensack.

Those from the Sacred Heart school were Genevieve Knight, Mary Koersch, Mary Stadler, Evelyn Grassi, Irene Tilly, Dorothy DeBey, Margaret Sperl, Janet Knight, Lucille Foley, Edward Grishaber, Frank Ruabe, Lionel Harold Norbert De Young, Edward Bohnsack and Arthur Brautigan.

CHALLENGE TO CHICAGO

Chicago received a slap in the face from uncontrolled crime in the murder of Assistant States Attorney William H. McSwiggin which it cannot ignore. It is all right for politicians ruling that city, overridden for years with such lawlessness as to make it a stench to the nation, to ignore the murder of citizens, the shooting up of hotels and other public places, wholesale robberies and unspeakable crimes, but when the government itself becomes the victim of the assassin, something must be done. It is not easy to do this in a city with more murders annually than there are days in the year, and where the meting out of justice is so great a rarity as to attract widespread attention.

Mayor Dever has just been down to Washington to tell congress and the federal government that Chicago is not as black as it has been painted. He has defended it against the charge that it is crime controlled. There was something of the mock heroic in the vigor with which he asserted Chicago's innocence, the supremacy of law and the maintenance of order. It was the typical plea of a politician without a case. He knew the record and the facts were against him, and so did the whole country, consequently his remonstrances against the so-called labeling of Chicago fell flat.

What is Chicago going to do about the murder of Mr. McSwiggin? There will, of course, be a spectacular search for the slayer. Undoubtedly he will be run down. He may be hanged, but it is about an even gamble he won't be. But even though he is hanged, as the law provides, that does not by any means answer the question of what Chicago is going to do about the murder of McSwiggin.

There is only one way in which Chicago can meet the issue raised by this foul assassination, and that is by reforming its political system, by waging an uncompromising war on crime and criminals and by restoring in fact the supremacy of law and order. Chicago can put its gunmen and gangsters and beer runners and bootleggers where they will do no harm to society if it wills to do so. Unless it does this it might just as well let the murderer of McSwiggin go unnoticed and unpunished.

It is a dangerous thing to tolerate crime in any instance, but when government itself is attacked, then it must either assert itself and smite that crime down or else surrender. That is what Chicago faces today. The city is rotten to the core. Every murder, every crime that occurs, is directly or indirectly chargeable to the nauscent state of its politics. In the background its government is hand in glove with crime. Will the murder of McSwiggin cause it to throw off the shackles?

SET BACK FOR BUS

There comes a sudden check to the triumph of the motor bus. Indiana goes back to the trolley car. Nearly all of the bus lines in that state have now been acquired by the interurban electric railways. The electric lines will use some of the bus lines as feeders and kill off the rest.

It may be that this victory is not altogether one of merit. The electric lines had a great investment which they wanted to protect. Nevertheless, the issue would hardly be settled in this way unless the financial interests supporting the electric lines believed the old type of transportation had a future.

Neither the flexible bus line nor the fixed and dependable trolley line need kill each other off. Each has its special qualification for service, and there is plenty of room for both, to supplement each other under proper regulation.

IMPORTING SHAKESPEARE AND LEONARDO

A middle-aged, bald-headed farmer from Buckinghamshire, England, who says he "never read a book in his life," has come to America with an amazing collection of alleged Shakespearean relics. He tells a romantic story of how furniture, candlesticks, clothing, shoes, etc., once owned and used by the greatest of poets and dramatists, were preserved in concealment for three centuries and finally came into his possession. If these relics are genuine, they are worth millions. The owner wants to sell them and settle down in Buffalo with his family.

There has also come to America, at the same time, a Russian noblewoman of ancient lineage, bearing a painting which she declares is the work of Leonardo da Vinci, the greatest Italian artist, who was a genius as supreme as Shakespeare and more varied in his gifts. This canvas, she believes, was painted from the same model who sat for the priceless Mona Lisa, most famous portrait in the world. It has been in her family, she said, for several centuries.

Scores of Americans would give a fortune for any relic of Shakespeare or any work of Leonardo proved genuine. There is considerable doubt expressed as to the authenticity of both of these remarkable offerings. But there is at least fascinating romance in the stories the owners tell and the kick they give to the imagination of collectors, and lovers of art and literature.

The big fact, however, is the new evidence they bear that America is recognized as the great market for the artistic and antique treasures of the whole world. Valuable things inevitably find their way to this country. Art goes where wealth is. Culture follows.

GIFT MONEY SUSPECTED

Most foreign countries are glad to get American money on any pretext whatever. Not so Egypt. There is considerable doubt expressed as to whether the Egyptian government will accept the $10,000,000 offered by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., for an archeological museum in Cairo.

The terms of Mr. Rockefeller's gift certainly do not seem offensive, even to a country notoriously touchy and superstitious toward foreigners. There is no attempt to monopolize the relic business in Egypt or dictate to the Egyptian authorities. The donor proposes to have his gift controlled for thirty years by a joint board equally representing Egypt, America, England and France, after which time Egypt is to gain full control.

But even this much renders the Egyptian politicians suspicious and hostile. They cannot understand why any outsider should give so much money just to promote archeology and befriend an ancient and poverty-stricken country. They think there must be some kind of Ethiopian in the woodpile. So they may refuse the offer or else hedge it about with crippling conditions—as they have with all the outside archeological work there—until the donor recalls his gift.

There is no accounting for what foreigners will do. Still, who are we to criticize? An American university, not so far away, only recently refused some of Mr. Rockefeller's philanthropic money for the same reasons that seem to actuate the Egyptians.

TODAY'S POEM
By HAL COCHRAN

"Course you'd really kinda thing that little folks wuz sleepin' Time for Master Sandman, and they should be in his keepin'. Been tucked in an hour or two, and long since said their prayers. Still, it kinda seems there's whispers comin' from the stairs."

"Jissen, Dad, and Mother, too, but don't stop what you're doing. Wait a while and maybe you will find out what's a brewing. Hear that patter-patter of some tiny little feet? Betcha someone's coming down to get a bite to eat."

"They don't know you've heard 'em, and they're gettin' sorta bold. One voice says, 'the quiet,' and the other, 'gee, I'm cold.' Sneakin' very softly, to the kitchen they have crept. Bet they're in the pantry where the cookie jar is kept."

"Now let's go an catch 'em, and surprise the little tikes. Gee, you just can't blame a lot for gettin' what he likes. 'Boo!' shouts Dad, 'we've caught you,' but it's in a kindly mood. And the kiddies do not answer—cause their mouths are full of food."

Some day a gang of superstitious folks will rally around and lynch our weather forecaster.

ANGINA PECTORIS

Anurism (ballooning of an artery), apoplexy (hemorrhage in the brain from rupture of an artery, or a "stroke") of paralysis as it is better known, and angina pectoris are the three most terrible forms of cardiovascular disease, because of the prospect of sudden death which we must envisage in every such case. From the three awful A's, good Lord, deliver us. From syphilis—which so often leads to one of the awful A's—spare us. O Lord, Give us the grace to take enough daily exercise and avoid the fleshpots and live the golden rule, that we may keep our arteries nice and soft and the insurance companies prosperous.

Angina pectoris means breast pang or chest cramp. Angina once meant any threat inflammation accompanied with a choking or constricted or suffocative feeling. Angina pectoris is sometimes dubbed neuralgia of the heart, although angina is nothing so trivial. This being a health column and not a disease emporium it will suffice to say that youngish people complaining of pain about the heart or other discomfort in that general vicinity seldom have anything wrong with the heart and never angina. I take pains to avoid describing angina pectoris because I always feel so ashamed of myself when a reader tells me I've described his case better than he could do it himself and will kindly send the sure cure I offered in my ad.

One subject to angina pectoris usually has arteriosclerosis, and particularly hardening of the coronary arteries, the arterial vessels which supply blood to the heart muscle itself, and the immediate cause of paroxysm or attack is some extraordinary spasm of the thickened coronary vessel, by reason of which the blood supply is temporarily withheld from a portion of the heart muscle. Such a temporary effect is likely to occur from a fit of anger. A famous surgeon, John Hunter, who had angina pectoris, said "my life is in the hands of any rascal who chooses to annoy or tease me."

High blood pressure sometimes accompanies angina pectoris, but is as often wanting, both during the paroxysms and in the intervals.

Experienced physicians conclude that in a majority of cases of angina pectoris developing before middle age, the arteriosclerotic condition underlying the angina is the result of syphilis acquired in earlier life. In cases developing after middle age syphilis is only occasionally a factor.

Many cases of so called "acute indigestion" are in reality angina pectoris. "Acute indigestion" in an evasion which we should never take seriously, unless the doctor winks when he says it.

Nitroglycerin is the sovereign emergency remedy for angina. One subject to attacks may carry a dose or two in his pocket. A nitroglycerin tablet placed on the tongue is effective within a fraction of a minute, if the nitroglycerin is really in the tablet and not just on the label.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Bunion's Progress

Kindly inform me if operation on bunions is serious and how long after the operation before one is able to work. (R. A.)

Answer—Well, it is no joke, that is, for the patient. Perhaps one can count on returning to work two weeks after the operation. Bunions, a good many people do not understand, is partly dislocated great joint, with the heads of the bones thickened more or less and usually an inflamed or infected bursa overlying the joint. There is no alternative for operation in the case of established bunion. The operation usually requires the removal of the thickened bone, to permit reduction of the dislocated joint and straightening of the toe into its normal position. Bunion is just a fair price to pay for vanity, and morbid or freak fancies as to the shape of the human hoof.

Sterilizing a Brush

Kindly give directions for sterilizing a new shaving brush. (M. F.)

Answer—Ordinary soap and water washing is sufficient, as a rule. The advice about sterilizing shaving brushes was broadcast about the time of the world war because at that time some shipments of bristles from Asia were found infected with anthrax. The method of sterilization then suggested was to soak the new brush for 24 hours in a strong solution—about one part of standard formaldehyde in four parts of water—agitating the bristles occasionally to be sure the solution reaches every surface, and rinsing the formalin away with water thoroughly before using the brush. All this is unnecessary now, but it may be used if you wish to sterilize a brush of any kind.

CONGRESS MAY ACT ON MUSCLE SHOALS PROJECT

If Bill to Lease Water Power Is Passed, It Will Be Big Advancement

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C.—The bill to lease the water power project at Muscle Shoals, on the Tennessee river in northern Alabama, is likely to be acted on at the present session of Congress, and if it is passed as recommended by the commission of congress which studied the question, it will be a long forward step in solving the water power development question of the whole country.

This question is one of private enterprise versus government ownership, and while the Water Power Act of 1921 was presumed to settle the whole matter, the question comes up again in congress every time water power is mentioned. The radical group remains firmly set for government ownership, and while it is a minority group in both house and senate, it has been able to delay any decision at Muscle Shoals or elsewhere in favor of private ownership or operation of new water power developments.

DESIGNED DURING WAR

The Muscle Shoals dams and power plants were designed during the war to make nitrates for munition purposes, and then a revised plan called for making nitrates for fertilizer. The government has gone slowly forward with the work, meanwhile looking for a means of unloading the responsibility on private enterprise, as a majority in congress does not favor the government's going into the fertilizer business, or the power business, or any other business it can keep out of.

Experience in the steamship business has been a factor in prompting congress to fight shy of going into trade, for the shipping board experiment continues to cost millions each year.

The government ownership advocates have so far been able to prevent any selling or leasing of the Muscle Shoals development. They prevented Henry Ford from getting the property, and have prevented any one else settling it. They point out that the government has spent a hundred million dollars, more or less, on the project, and that no private offer to operate it carried any promise of any reasonable return to the investment.

The advocates of the Ford and other plans have argued that while no offer carried a full return on what Uncle Sam has spent, that is no reason for not taking the best offer, rather than letting the plants stand idle and produce no return at all. They are inclined to charge much of the cost off to war expense, and make the best deal possible. That is what the latest investigating commission recommended. It wants to lease the project to the highest bidder, with some provision to get a certain amount of fertilizer manufactured. The latter feature is put in to please the farmers of the country, who have been offered late years to look toward Muscle Shoals as a source of cheap fertilizer.

WANT PRODUCTION

The whole effort to get Muscle Shoals off the hands of the government and start it producing something may again be blocked in this congress, but friends of the plan hope to win out this year by the aid of southern members of Congress. Many of the latter, formerly standing for government ownership, are inclined to abandon that theory in favor of some practical action at Muscle Shoals. The whole group of southern states are experiencing an industrial development which is changing the southern viewpoint on many questions. The business men of the south realize that the upper Tennessee valley is rich in resources.

It produces aluminum, iron, coal, and other minerals in abundance, timber and cement materials, and with a development of electric power it may become an industrial center comparable to the upper Ohio Valley around Pittsburgh.

The present Muscle Shoals bill does not contemplate complete sale of the properties built by the government, but a long term leasing. The same principle is the basis of the national water power act. It gives to private enterprises a chance to lease for a period long enough to give every opportunity for reasonable profit, but leaves the ownership with the government.

The government owners advocate in Congress, who since the death of the elder La Follette have been led by Senator Norris of Nebraska, are generally opposed to any plan permitting private operation of water powers. Their theory is that the water falls and rivers belong to the people and should be operated by the people. The practical obstacles in the way of government operation do not deter them from sticking to their point, nor do the government losses in construction at Muscle Shoals offer them sufficient argument against Government entry into the power business.

THIS IS ONE OF PRIVATE ENTERPRISE

Washington, D. ## CHURCH WOMEN ARE GUESTS AT TEA, PROGRAM

Groups No. 6 and 13 of the Womans association of the Congregational church entertained women of the church at a tea and program from 3 to 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the church. A dance was given by three students of the Bannister Studio of Dancing, Annette Plank, Mary Bearneau and Geraldine Schmidt. A trio composed of Mrs. E. E. Dunn, Miss Maude Harwood and Mrs. Stewart F. Leuchars sang a selection. Readings were given by the little Misses Jane Sensenbrenner and Jean Shannon. Tea was served after the program to about 80 women. Mrs. C. C. Nelson is captain of circle No. 13 and Mrs. Len Bushey is captain of Group No. 6.

MASONIC DANCE TO BE BIG AFFAIR

The last Masonic dancing party this season will be one of the best ever held here if the social committee headed by G. L. Carlton has its way. The dance will be held May 7 in Masonic temple. The Mellorima orchestra will furnish music for the affair. Specialty numbers are being arranged as a special feature of entertainment.

FASHION HINTS

CHIFFON SUITS NEW
Very snappy suits for afternoon wear are of chiffon or georgette crepe in pastel colors, with pleated skirts and simple little coats.

CORSAGE IN BACK
A very extreme French model for evening is of taffeta with a full, bouffant skirt with flowers, outlining the waistline in the back, but not in the front.

PLAID HAT AND SCARF
To give a suit of dark shade and severe cut just the jazz it needs, wear plaid taffeta hat and scarf with it.

EXAGGERATED SIZE
Large silk handkerchief are tied about the waistline of some of the smartest sport frocks, usually just below the natural waistline.

FEMININE BOWS
Never have bows been so important as today, they are to be found at any point on the afternoon or evening gown, but usually defining a gash that ties directly in front.

CONVENIENT AND SMART
Most attractive sports dresses are of Chinese damask with a skirt which unbuttons and reveals a matching pair of bloomers. For the golf course or tennis court it has the admirable combination of utility and style.

EVENING TAFFORADES
The two-piece evening frock of lame or brocade silk often has a V-neckline and a suggestion of a tie—very attractive because of its incongruity.

HAND PAINTED POSTES
At the recent Paris openings one of the most startling evenings gowns was of silver velvet, hand painted with gold flowers, and worn over a petticoat or silver cloth.

FOR THE YOUNGER SET
Boys looking collars and white pique stocks are appearing on the market in large numbers.

LAW OF AVERAGES
It is one of those strange, feminine contradictions that the more masculine and severe the haircut becomes, the more feminine and clinging the frock is.

COLOR COMBINATIONS
The combination of citron and rose.

CARD PARTIES

MARRIAGE LICENSES
The following application for a marriage license was received at the office of the county clerk Tuesday:

Paul John Konrath, Appleton, to Clara Boehler, Appleton.

London will have a new railway station capable of handling 35,000 passengers a year.

INDIANS JOIN IN NATIONAL GROUP TO SEEK RIGHTS

Mrs. Bonnin, South Dakota Sioux, President of Organization

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN
Washington, D. C.—For the first time in history there has been formed a national organization of American Indians. It is known as the National Council of American Indians, and has for its president Mrs. Gertrude Bonnin, who is a well-known author and lecturer on the the status and condition of the Indian.

Mrs. Bonnin is a South Dakota Sioux, whose Indian name is Zitkala-Sa. She appears thoroughly Americanized and speaks English with no trace of accent. However, her heart remains with her people, and she has devoted her life to their interests.

Mrs. Bonnin feels that although the Indian has been granted American citizenship by congress he is not receiving the benefits due him. Many privileges granted the white man as his right are not extended to the Indian. Mrs. Bonnin is of the opinion that in the final analysis it would be greater to the white man's benefit to give the Indian an equal opportunity with his white brother to take his place as a real citizen.

Mrs. Bonnin has been particularly interested in doing what she can toward acquainting the public at large with the present condition of the Indians. In this connection she has talked to club women in practically every state in the Union. She has done this under the auspices of the General Federation of Women's clubs.

The federation was holding a convention in Salt Lake City in 1921 when Mrs. Bonnin made her appeal to the women. She told them the story of the California Indians and their efforts to get the money due them under treaties made in 1851 and 1852 and asked that the federation inaugurate a new department in the interest of the Indian.

At that time the federation, feeling that it already had too many departments, was about to cut down on them. After they had heard Mrs. Bonnin, however, they were so impressed and became so interested that they complied with her request. Since that time they have actively supported her in her work.

HARD TO SETTLE CLAIMS
Mrs. Bonnin quotes the case of the California Indians as an example of the difficulty the Indians has in having his claims adjudicated in the Court of Claims. It seems that in order for a tribe to have its case come before the Court of Claims there must be a special act of congress, which is known as a jurisdictional act.

She says the California Indians are exceedingly poor, many are undernourished and numbers have died for lack of medical attention. They are not equipped to compete with the white man in the matter of employment, and depend largely upon seasonal work. They must, through greatest economy, manage to save from their meager wages of the summer enough to keep them alive during the winter.

She says that often the children are unable to attend school because they have not the proper clothing. There are old people and those who are ill and can not work who must live in dire poverty. And yet, it is explained these people might well be rich if the money due them for their lands ceded under treaties made 75 years ago were paid.

These treaties, according to Mrs. Bonnin, were made in good faith both on the part of the white man and the red man. Therefore, their terms should be complied with. A great many people became interested in the matter and jurisdictional bill, permitting the case to be brought before the Court of Claims, was passed by the house and senate. Its advocates were elated, and felt that at last justice was to be done. Their triumph was short-lived, however, since President Coolidge vetoed the measure.

Another thing to which the Indians have taken exception, and which they believe is an infringement of their rights, is the recent passing of a bill authorizing the construction of a Navajo bridge. This bridge is to cost $100,000, and the money is to be taken out of the Navajo funds. The Navajos protested against this bill before it was passed, saying that the bridge would be of no help to them but their objection was overruled.

Mrs. Bonnin also explains that there are now in committee in congress several bills which the Indians feel would work great injustice to them if passed. All of these things are responsible for the organization of the National Council of American Indians, which came about in the following fashion:

Symphony Orchestra Got Start At Singing Club

The story of the organization of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, which is to appear in Appleton on Wednesday, May 12th, matinee and night at Lawrence Chapel dates back to an emergency-faced and over-come.

Back in 1903, Minneapolis boasted a fine mixed chorus of some 300 voices, the Philharmonic Club which gave four concerts each year. Emil Oberhoffer was the conductor. Though the voices were well trained, considerable difficulty was experienced in giving a finished performance on account of the inability of Mr. Oberhoffer to recruit a proper orchestra to carry the instrumental burden. Every rehearsal and every concert meant practically a different orchestra, for the players were simply hired at a certain price for each time they showed up.

If any other engagement offered more inducement, the players would not appear. The result was that the concerts were unsatisfactory to say the least.

To solve this problem it was suggested that a sufficient fund be raised by private subscription to enable Mr. Oberhoffer to definitely hire his musicians for a season of ten concerts or four choral, six orchestral, the latter largely as a matter of offering sufficient employment to make the proposition attractive to the musicians. The sum of $10,000 was arrived at as sufficient and was raised at a luncheon one day given by E. L. Carpenter, a music enthusiast and a group of twelve other business men.

The season was a success. For the first time in the musical history of Minneapolis, the orchestra played the score and really furnished an accompaniment for the chorus. The Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra had come into existence, and the man who gave the luncheon was its president—and still is. Since then, the original guarantee fund has been increased to $150,000 per year, and the original twelve subscribers to six hundred. The Philharmonic club has disbanded. The Minneapolis Symphony orchestra has come to occupy a secure place in the ranks of great orchestras.

Fink has been active in debate work at Lawrence for the last three years and his election came because of his high quality of work. Verhage won the interclass oratorical meet at Lawrence and became eligible to represent his school in the state contest at Milton College in February. He won the state contest but was defeated by representatives of Monmouth and Wabash colleges in an interstate contest held here on April 9. Verhage has the added distinction of being elected to the fraternities during his sophomore year.

Verhage represents Wisconsin as a delegate to the Interstate oratorical contest which is being held in Chicago today. The business of the meet at Chicago will be conducted in the afternoon and the oratorical contests will be held in the evening.

WRISTON TALKS TO TEACHERS

Lawrence College President
Speaker at Milwaukee
Mentors' Meeting

At the dinner given by the Milwaukee High School Teachers' association at the Hotel Astor on Thursday night, President Henry M. Wriston of Lawrence college discussed the history of American diplomacy and stressed its change from amateur to professional standards.

Dr. Wriston told the association that America's participation in international affairs has been outstanding because of its extreme individuality. It has progressed from an amateur to professional attitude in its dealings, and has carried with it a certain idealism which has offset some of the less desirable traits.

"America has reason to be proud of the rapid strides made by the competent diplomatic service during the last fifteen years. Whatever our feelings may be about the desirability of more or less contact with Europe, it is clear that in what contact we have, we need that ablest and most capable representatives. The diplomatic service, therefore, should be still further strengthened," the speaker said.

Dr. Wriston will speak at the Grace-ave Methodist church in Racine on Sunday.

At the same time and will be sent to members and supporters. The local association is rated with 551 others in cities of from 10,000 to 25,000 population. Last fall Appleton ranked twenty-first among the 551 cities in its class and most of the cities which led the local association have populations of 24,000 or more. George F. Werner, general secretary said.

TO PROGRAM ON FRATERNAL DAY

Music and Addresses Arranged for Entertainment in Lawrence Chapel

An attractive program will be given Friday evening in Lawrence Memorial Chapel to observe National Fraternal Day and a large number of people from Appleton and vicinity are expected to attend the entertainment which has been arranged by 26 fraternal orders of the city. The program is for the general public and is free. No collection will be taken as the entire expense of the affair is to be paid by the fraternal societies.

The purpose of National Fraternal Day which is being observed for the first time in cities throughout the nation, is to foster good will and brotherhood in American communities.

Dr. J. A. Holmes, pastor of First Methodist church, will give the principal address of the evening. He will talk on Fraternalism. Several selections will be played by the 12th Field Artillery band and there will be community singing led by Carl J. Waterman, dean of Lawrence Conservatory of Music.

The invocation will be spoken by the Rev. W. J. Fitzmaurice and the address of welcome will be given by Gustave Keller, Sr., chairman of the committee on arrangements. Mrs. Clyde Caverly, secretary of the committee on arrangements will call the roll of societies. Presentation of the flag will be made by George C. Dame, commander of Oney Johnston Post and acceptance will be made by Mayor Albert C. Rule.

TWO PERSONS HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Clintonville—August and Paul Zilisch received serious injuries while driving to Appleton Sunday evening. They were riding in a Hudson coach, and about three miles from Appleton near the Tri-corner school a car came toward them on the wrong side of the road. In an effort to avoid the approaching car they plunged down an embankment and upset, striking a tree as they turned over. August Zilisch was pulled from beneath the car suffering many serious scratches and bruises. Paul had an arm broken and other bruises. The cousin also was badly scratched and bruised. They were unable to recognize occupants of the approaching car which sped on its way and did not stop.

At a meeting Tuesday night the National Guard club decided that membership in this organization would be open to all outside guardmen as well as active and ex-guard members. The Armory and club rooms also will be open to the general public on certain nights during the week. With the addition of bowling alleys in the fall, the National Guard and armory should become very popular.

The W. C. T. U. held their meeting at the Congregational church Wednesday. Mrs. Lila Matteson, formerly of this city, addressed the members. The membership committee reported that their drive for new members had been successful.

The Young Ladies Sodality of St. Rose congregation entertained young men of the congregation at a Bunco party and lunch Monday evening at K. C. hall.

Mrs. R. G. Gibson and daughter, Berneice, left Wednesday for Lansing, Mich., to visit for several weeks with relatives.

Miss Diet Beedie returned Wednesday to her home in Tigerton.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Schroeder, formerly of Bear Creek, have moved to Clintonville where they are making their home for the present.

The school board has filled practically all vacancies on the teaching force for the coming school year, of which there were five. Among the new teachers are Miss Anita Baum of Colby, who will teach the sixth grade and Roy Quinn of Keweenaw who will have charge of physical education and athletic coaching.

Work on the new canning factory has been resumed. On account of the heavy rains the men were unable to proceed with the work for a few days. The lower end of Seventh st. is again open to traffic. Digging and installing of the water main which closed this street has been completed to the point where it no longer closes this street.

IN CHICAGO MURDER

Madison police have been requested by Chicago authorities to aid in the search for George Smith, who is wanted in connection with the murder of Assistant States Attorney, William H. McGivigan, and two beer runners, James J. Doherty and Thomas Duffy, in Chicago Tuesday, according to a Madison newspaper.

Smith is known to have purchased a machine gun, No. 3117, on Aug. 7, 1925, and police are anxious to know if he still has it in his possession. No description of Smith was given.

As a coincident, Appleton authorities also are looking for a George Smith who deserted his wife here some four years ago. Mrs. Smith has since been divorced.

NEXT SUNDAY, MAY 2,
IN THE COLOR COMIC SECTION!

Match and Name These Two Comic Characters—

Here are two famous characters from The Sunday Milwaukee Journal big 12-page Comic section. You see them every Sunday in The Journal—but can you put their faces together correctly after they have been cut into sections and mixed up as in the pictures at the left? $1,000 in cash prizes is offered for correct solutions of the Cut-up Comic Pictures that will appear in The Sunday Milwaukee Journal every Sunday for eight weeks, beginning next Sunday, May 2, in the Color Comic section. Read the rules below.

Only 8 Picture Groups

No long tedious hunting through histories, dictionaries, etc., for correct solutions of this contest! Simply refer to the 12 pages of Sunday Journal Comics where you will find the characters used in the Comic Cut-up Contest Pictures. And there are only eight groups of Comic Cut-up Pictures in this contest—it will be short, easy and interesting! Start next Sunday.

READ THESE RULES

1. Cut apart and rearrange the pictures so that the matched parts make a picture of one of The Sunday Journal Comic characters. Write this name and the character and on the comic page 16, which this character appears.

2. Save all pictures until after the eighth group has appeared on June 30. Paste and match the numbered parts on one side of all or part of each paper, leaving the number on each part. Write your name and address at the top of the page. Then write a sentence of not more than twelve words telling which Sunday comic page the contestant likes best and why.

3. The contest is open to all residents in Wisconsin and Upper Michigan, excepting Journal employees and members of their families.

Contestants may enter as many sets of pictures as they wish but no contestant will be awarded more than one prize.

4. Solutions must be mailed or delivered to The Journal Comic Editor not later than midnight July 3. No Solution will be returned.

5. Awards will be based on correctness, observance of the rules and neatness. In case two or more contestants submit entries of equal merit for any prize, the full amount of the prize will be awarded both or all to the contestants.

6. Contestants need not be Journal subscribers, nor need they buy The Sunday Journal to compete. The pictures may be copied or traced.

DESCENDANTS OF FOX INDIANS ARE ALMOST EXTINCT

Only 375 Are Still Living in Vicinity of Iowa; Disease Reduced Ranks

Only about 775 descendants of the first inhabitants of Appleton and neighboring cities and villages remain in white man's history and claimed from the Indians' tradition to still live.

Readers of The Question Box on the editorial page of Wednesday's Post-Crescent found this question from many Musquakie Indians: "Are there any Foxes left?"

While it is necessarily brief, the reply gives adequately the forced migrations of the race in addition to answering the question. Originally it is pointed out, there were between 1,200 and 1,500 Musquakies better known as Foxes and their habitat was near the Fox river.

Now only about 375 Foxes remain located in the vicinity of Tama Iowa. Ravages of disease have reduced them more than any inroads made by their early days of constant warfare with other tribes, with the French after 1640 and later with the early English in America.

Apparently weakened physically and morally after their removal from this vicinity to Kansas from 1842 to 1845 while the covetous white man was crowding them out and seizing their lands, large numbers fell victim to an epidemic of smallpox and cholera. In 1903 another epidemic of smallpox carried off about 50.

This is only one of many interesting answers which may be found in The Question Box on the editorial page of The Post-Crescent.

Romance and Adventure—Just Around the Corner!

Within easy motoring distance of your own home, spots of wonder are waiting for you! The spectacular—the beautiful—the wonderful—not many miles from your own door! With fun, freedom and adventure in finding them.

Fill your tank with Red Crown Gasoline—get a good road map—leave your troubles behind—and thrill to the excitement of flying landscapes and surprises at every turn. This short list is just a suggestion of the infinite variety that awaits you.

- 1—The Black Hills of South Dakota, in reality mountains over 7,000 feet above sea level, the color of midnight blue because of their forest of blue spruce and Norway pine. State Highway No. 85.
- 2—Big Spring State Park, Missouri. An average of 223,000,000 gallons of water per day gush out of a rocky cliff and rush into Current River, one of the swiftest and most beautiful of Ozark streams. Near Van Buren on State Highway No. 16.
- 3—Fort Lincoln Park near Mandan, North Dakota, on a high bluff overlooking the Missouri Valley. "Old officers' quarters of Fort Abraham Lincoln and the site of an old Mandan Village. State Highway No. 6.
- 4—"The Giant Sycamore" largest broadleaved tree in the United States, over 42 feet in circumference at five feet above the ground. Three miles from Worthington, Greene County, Indiana. State Highway No. 12.
- 5—The vast prairie of Kansas, the "core of the continent." Union Pacific Highway No. 10 and Victory Highway No. 15 along the Kansas River.
- 6—Morehead Caves in limestone rocks that are hung with beautiful plants and rare ferns. Near Maquoketa, Iowa. State Highways Nos. 20 and 62.
- 7—The famous Gull Lake, Michigan, beautifully wooded and silver-beached. State Highway No. 17 between Battle Creek and Kalamazoo.
- 8—The Swiss Settlement at New Glarus, Wisconsin, an odd little town transplanted from the Old World with Swiss people, architecture, language and customs. Not far from Madison, on State Highway No. 31.
- 9—The "North Shore Road" in Minnesota, one of the famous scenic highways of the country along the wild and rugged coast of Lake Superior from Duluth to the Canadian boundary. State Highway No. 1.
- 10—The Cahokia Indian Mound covering 14 acres in Illinois, the largest edifice ever built by human hands. Just out of East St. Louis on State Highway No. 3.

Smooth wonderful highways throughout the Middle West make motoring a joy. And at convenient intervals all along these highways the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has established service stations for your convenience.

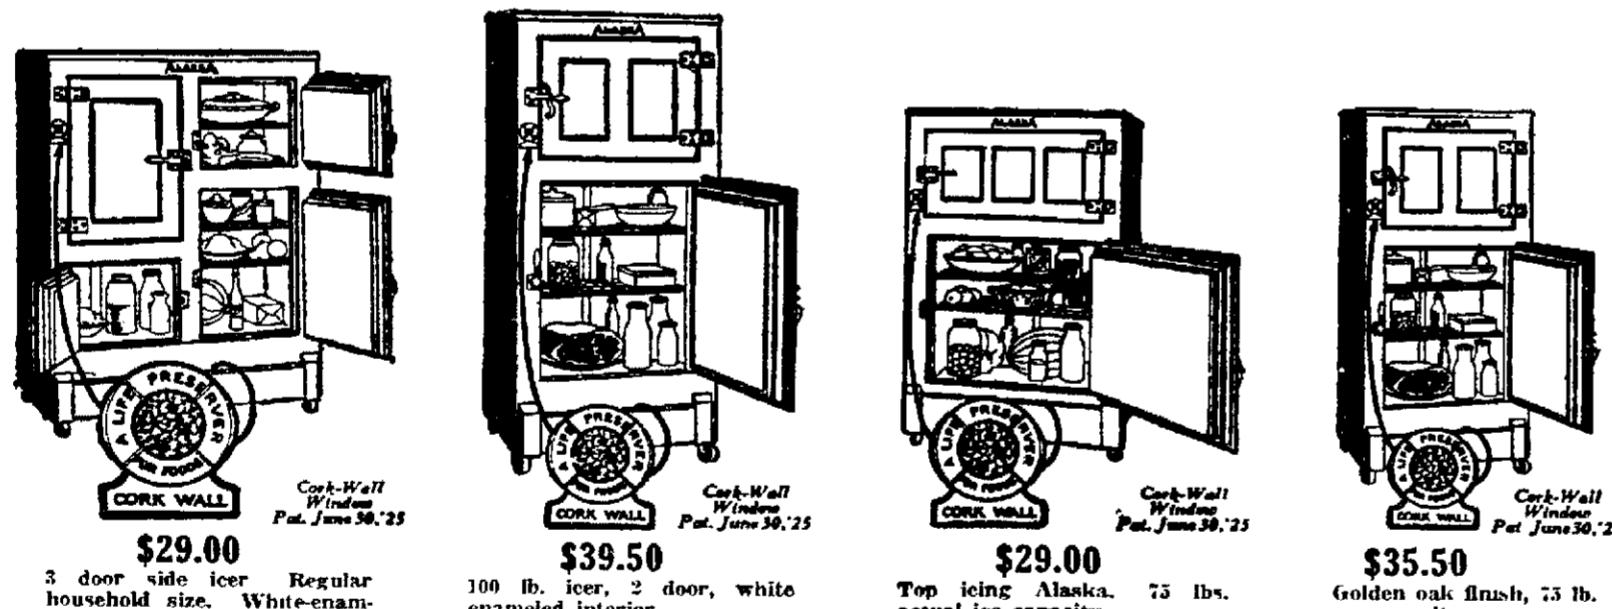

The progressive policy of better highways and the hearty cooperation of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) have thus opened the road to happiness to all the thirty million people of the Middle West.

Tomorrow Is Your Last Chance After Then, No More Allowances On Old Refrigerators!

Don't fail to take advantage of this Remarkable Price Saving

Don't pass up this opportunity to make a double saving. You can save five dollars on the low purchase price of a new Alaska, famous for its Cork-Wall Window. Then you save ever after on food and ice! But tomorrow is your last chance to make this marvelous double saving.

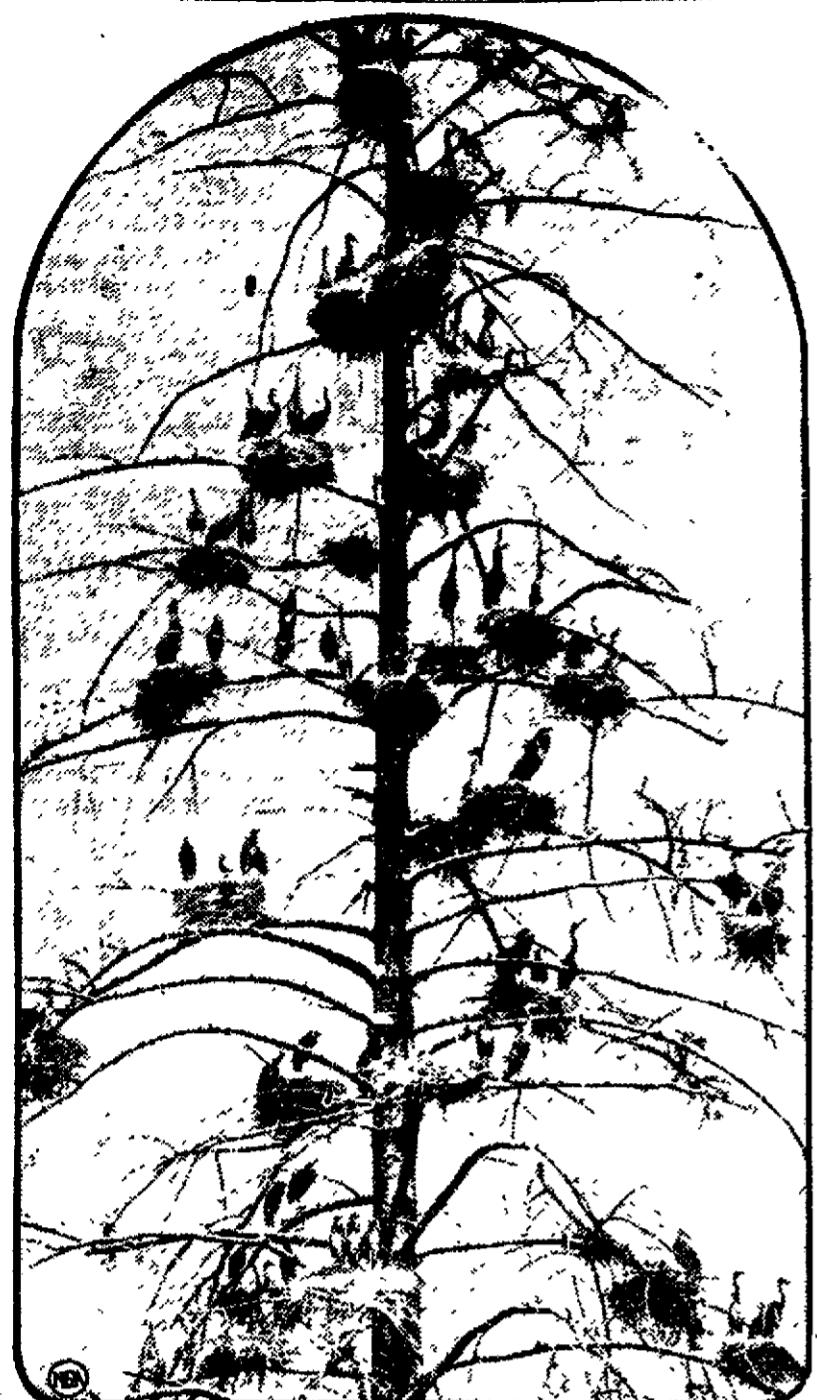

Your old refrigerator, no matter what its condition or make, is worth exactly five dollars when you purchase a new Alaska. But tomorrow is the last day. By all means come in and see these splendid modern refrigerators. Look through the "window." See the cork insulation that makes possible ice savings never surpassed by any other refrigerator regardless of its price. And then just look at the price of Alaska. And a $5.00 saving on top of that. Come tomorrow sure!

HOLLYWOOD ACTRESS INVENTS NEW STYLE OF BOY BOB

Here is one of the most remarkable pictures ever taken—a picture of a colony of shy green herons showing fifty-two nests in a tree in Cameron parish, Louisiana. The green heron is one of the few web-footed birds that lives off the ground.

"Tummo" and "Pongo" baby orang-outangs at the London, Eng., zoo, are enjoying a romp. It looks ferocious, and it sounded worse but it really was all in the best of fun.

Myrna Loy of Hollywood has found a new style in boyish boys. Instead of combing the hair back it is combed forward, with uneven ends covering the forehead. Yes she's a movie actress.

"Peggy" O'Neill, girl baseball star of New York, will tour the country, playing first base on a team composed otherwise of men. Her teammates call her "Baby Ruth" because of her hitting ability.

Twenty-six men were killed and many more injured when 90,000 barrels of gasoline in the hold of the tanker Gulf of Venezuela exploded as the ship lay in Beaumont (Tex.) harbor. Photo shows the damage caused by the blast.

The season of seashore and diving board draws nigh. Here are some of the coming styles. Ruffled taffeta and Chinese printed silks in the center strike new notes, as does the figured jersey on the right. The severe swimming costume will continue popular. Caps will be fancier, coming this way.

Here's another European theatrical star who plans to hold the United States for ransom—at the box office. She is Miss Eugenie Breal, star of the Palais Royal, Paris, who is Sanford Nelson, Seattle messenger boy, saw five bandits hold up a taxicab. He jumped off his bike, caught one of them unarmed him and held him until the police came. Now Seattle business men are raising a fund so he can get an education. He supports his mother and crippled father and goes to night school.

Because short skirts, light hose and high heels aren't conducive to "philosophical thought," University of Oklahoma co-eds have been ordered to get out their old-fashioned clothing. Photo shows Ruby Wooten of Chickasha, one of the co-eds; at the left she's in her accustomed costume, right in the one the university says she must wear.

E. Haldeman-Julius, writer and publisher of Girard Kas, opened an ordinary panel post package the other day and found it contained the huge manuscript of William Hazlitt's famous essay, "On Coffee House Politicians." The manuscript has great value, but Haldeman-Julius cannot learn who sent it to him.

Wilhelm Hohenzollern, the former crown prince, likes the profile for snapshots. Maybe because it shows off the trick hat, huh? Here he is at Oels, Silesia.

Clothes didn't make Jack Earl, who is 8 feet 6 inches high by a long shot but here he is being measured for a suit. Jack hails from Texas and is no bargain for any tailor.

Twenty-five occupants of an auto bus narrowly escaped death when a Rock Island railway locomotive struck their conveyance near Little Rock, Ark. Eleven of them were hurt, none seriously. Photo shows what happened to the bus.

TENNIS GAMES ANOTHER 3,000 START MONDAY MARK IN TOURNEY ON 2 COURTS

Bud's Buddies Take Third Place by Rolling Count of 3,016

Expect City Council Will Assist in Putting Third Court in Shape

Kaukauna—Members of Kaukauna Tennis Club have started practice for the tennis tournament which will be on Monday afternoon. Courts No. 1 and 2 are in good condition and it is expected that the city council will take up the matter of fixing the third court at its meeting Tuesday evening. Until the third court is fixed match play will be only on two courts. Forty members have joined the club, six of whom are girls. An effort will be made to interest more girls.

The schedule for next week:

Monday, court No. 1, William Ashe, Jr. vs. Amay Bayorgeon; court No. 2, Jack Farwell vs. William Garvey.

Tuesday, court No. 1, Norbert Nole vs. Elmer Ott; court No. 2, Alphonse Berens vs. Byron Bisek.

Wednesday, court No. 1, Edward Hettling vs. Joseph Krahn; court No. 2, Gordon Patten vs. Fay Posson.

Thursday, court No. 1, George Boyd vs. Robert Brooks; court No. 2, Edward Luedke vs. James McFadden.

Friday, court No. 1, Alfred Ristau vs. Carl Runte; court No. 2, Carl Chopin vs. Thomas Darling.

All of the matches will start at 5:30 and any participant not on the courts at that time will forfeit the match.

American Lawn Tennis association rules will govern all play. Each participant in a match must furnish at least two tennis balls and a racquet.

An effort will be made to arrange a schedule for the girl members so that match play may start the second week in May.

Members of the club are William Ashe Sr., William Ashe, Jr., Amay Bayorgeon, Alphonse Berens, Byron Bisek, George Boyd, Robert Brooks, Carl Chopin, Thomas Darling, J. B. Delbridge, Harvey Dix, Jack Farwell, William Garvey, William Hass, Edward Hettling, Joseph Krahn, Edward Luedke, James McFadden, Milton Metz, Homer Metz, A. Michel, Gordon Mulholland, Norbert Nole, Henry Olm, Elmer Ott, Gordon Patten, Fay Posson, Edward Rennick, A. Ristau, Carl Runte, Otto Runte, Gilbert St. Michel, Frank Spindler, Gordon Van Lieshout, Laura Deering Lillian Reardon, Ethel Egan, Josephine Ludke, Betty Biese and Olive Gerhart.

MILLS WORTH MORE THAN FISH, KRESS TELLS CLUB

Kaukauna—Dr. Otto Kress of this city spoke to members of the Kaukauna Advancement association at its regular meeting Thursday evening in the council chambers on Pollution of Rivers. He told of investigation made on the Chippewa, Fox and Wisconsin rivers by members of the state commission and he said that only indirectly did manufacturing plants kill life that may be in the rivers, such as fish. Mr. Kress said that the mills are always striving to purify the water, but so far they have not found a method by which they can return the water just as pure as they got it. Mr. Kress took issue with those organizations which are condemning manufacturers for polluting the water and he added that the mills were of more value to the valley than all the fish in the river.

Ernest Landreman explained the purposes of St. Mary homecoming and the association went on record as favoring it. President B. Frucht outlined briefly the program of the association for the coming year.

W. F. Hagman explained the "Two More Milk" campaign from May 2 to 6.

MARK OPTIONAL HIGHWAY 15 THROUGH KAUKAUNA

Kaukauna—An optional route for Highway 15 has been established through the north side business section by the Wisconsin Highway commission. This route gives traffic the option of following Black-street to Wisconsin through the business section of the north side as far as Lawer-est and then back to Highway 15 again. The optional route is designated by yellow markers.

An effort had been made by north side business men for a long time to route the highway through the north side business section. Over a year ago the matter was taken up with the highway commission and it decided it could not reroute the highway, but it would provide an optional route through the city.

BIG CROWD ATTENDS P-T CLUB MEETING

Kaukauna—A large crowd attended the Parent-Teachers association meeting held Thursday evening in the auditorium. A program of singing was presented by a mixed chorus of the fifth and sixth grades of Neale and Park schools and a mixed chorus from the junior high school.

PICK ORANGE AND BLUE FOR PROMENADE COLORS

Kaukauna—The decoration committee for the junior prom to be held in the auditorium May 6 has decided on a color scheme of orange and blue with which to decorate the interior of the building. The class colors are red and white, but it was decided that these colors would not look good for a prom. There will be a special platform for the orchestra behind a grove of palms. Several lounging rooms will be fitted up.

REPORT CARDS

Kaukauna—Report cards for the Mrs. Leona Hale spoke on "What a Teacher May Expect of a Parent" and Mrs. William Ashe spoke on "What a Parent May Expect of a Teacher." Miss Basam, Nickel, the senior teacher, had charge of the senior program.

Herb Temmer's Rhythm Kings Sun. Featuring Hi Colwel. Follow the crowd. Admission 50c.

WISCONSIN DEATHS

MRS. L. NOHR

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca—The funeral of Mrs. L. Nohr, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Henry Ingstad, on April 22, was held Sunday afternoon from Holy Ghost church, Nicoline.

Christine Bendixen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lars Peter Bendixen, was born in Grested, Denmark, Oct. 23, 1887, and came to America in 1888 and settled in Waupaca. In September 1882, she was united in marriage to Lauritz Nohr and moved to Minneapolis, Minn., where they made their home until 1894, when they returned to Wisconsin, settling in Parfreyville, the present homestead. Eight children were born to them, Agnes Josephine, who died while serving as a nurse in the World war; Albert of Weyauwega; Edward, Pasadena, Calif.; Mrs. Henry Ingstad of Waupaca; Mrs. LeRoy Funk of Waupaca; Harry of Mineral Point; Benjamin of Waupaca; and one son who died in infancy.

Those from out of town who attended the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nohr of Mineral Point, W. J. Bendixen of Green Bay, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hofsperger and Mr. and Mrs. Heinz of Appleton; Mr. and Mrs. George Nohr of Almond.

BY YEAR 2026 75 WILL BE CONSIDERED YOUNG

ART DIRECTOR WROTE SONGS FOR MONTMARTE

Men and women 100 years old will be active in business and social affairs by 2026, it is predicted by Sir Kingsley Wood, parliamentary secretary to the British ministry of health.

"In the next century there is no doubt in my mind that the average expectation of life will be a hundred years, and a person of seventy-five will be regarded as comparatively young," said Sir Kingsley, who has recommended more physical exercise for members of the house of commons.

Good health and good temper go together," he contended, "and if the members of parliament took more exercise, fewer members would be suspended, and wild and excited scenes in the house would disappear."

Miss Mildred Long spent the week end with relatives at New London.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike McCleone, Rosella and Genevieve McCleone visited at the John McCleone residence at Embarrass Wednesday night.

Mesdames L. J. Rebman and Hubert Rebman were Clintonville callers on Friday.

Mrs. M. Long is spending the week end with the B. B. Monty family at New London.

The J. J. Dempsey family spent Sunday at Clintonville.

Mr. and Mrs. William Benz and Miss Mildred Botzau of Peshtigo were visitors at the L. J. Rebman home Tuesday.

Harold Schindell of Beaver Dam, was a visitor at the G. P. Mares home last week.

Mrs. Julie Bracco of Deer Creek spent Sunday at the S. J. Bracco home.

Miss Loretta Thebo of Oshkosh, spent the weekend at her home.

Mrs. August Hintz and daughter,

Gillian of Oshkosh, were guests of Mrs. E. Dery Saturday.

James Thebo was a New London caller Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wolf of Clintonville were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dery Sunday.

FIRST ARLEN FILM NOW EN- ROUTE HERE

The first of Michael Arlen's stories to reach the screen will be shown at the Elite Theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. It is "The Dancer of Paris," Robert T. Kane's latest production for First National.

Arlen's books and plays, among others of which are numbered "The Green Hat," and "These Charming People," have brought him a tremendous vogue. "The Dancer of Paris" is considered by critics as one of the most powerful stories written in a decade.

REALISM MARKS "WRECKAGE" FILM

Based on the narrative "Salvage," by Izola Forrester, the banner production called "Wreckage" at the New Bijou today and Saturday with May Allison and Holmes Herbert in the principal roles. In the cast are John Miljan, Rosemary Theby and James Morrison.

The story is one of the most dramatic, with the elements of love and battle woven cleverly into the action.

A wreck in the Pacific is one of the most startling scenes cast on a screen for some time and proves that it was no press agent story that came from Los Angeles announcing the most powerful stories written in a decade.

In the role of a cub reporter John Miljan is sent to Bloomfield, Kentucky, to report a feud that is racing between the White and Ripper factions.

He no sooner sets foot in this shoot-'em-up country than he becomes involved in the warring factions.

To complicate matters, he falls in love with Alice Ripper, the schoolteacher sweet-heart of Tilden MacFields, leader of the Rippers.

"RAINBOW RILEY" SHOWS FILM COMIC AT HIS BEST IN SPARKLING STORY OF KEN-TUCKY FEUDS

Johnny Hines, the world's fastest, most dynamic and funniest comedian, fairly outdoes himself in his latest celluloid cyclone, "Rainbow Riley," which will be shown at the Elite Theatre Saturday and Sunday. In this remarkable picture Johnny gives to the screen one of the best comedies seen in a long, long time. The freshness of the story, the ingenious manner in which it has been developed and the scintillating efforts of the star make this production unusually creditable cinema fare.

COMING MONDAY — GLORIA SWANSON IN "THE UNTAMED LADY" the near tragedy of May Allison when she was thrown into the sea from a careening life boat.

"Wreckage" is the sort of picture that will hold the audience consistently and at no stage of its unfolding does the story become dull. The case is good and the directing by Sean Dunlap worthy of special mention.

LAWRENCE GRAY HAS LEADING MALE ROLE

A stirring, ultra-modern story of spirited youth, smart society and sparkling romance is "The Untamed Lady," which Gloria Swanson glorifies with her glamorous beauty, a bewildering array of fashionable gowns and the most exhilarating performance of her notable career.

Gloria has an ideal opportunity to exhibit her varied talents. It is a role that calls into play her extraordinary gift for impersonation, her ability as a comedian and her powers as an emotional actress.

Fannie Hurst, who wrote "The Untamed Lady" especially for Gloria, has provided a plot full of fast action, fresh humor and romantic thrill delicately balanced with pathos, dramatic tension and genuine heart appeal.

There are some remarkably thrilling shots of the last Yale-Princeton football game, an exciting chase on horseback, a realistic storm at sea aboard a luxurious yacht, during which Gloria is forced to go down into the boiler room and shovel coal, and several delightful scenes at a gay Long Island country club and an elaborate hunting lodge in the Catskills, that serve to keep the interest taut throughout the unrelenting of the picture.

The task of taming Gloria falls to the lot of Lawrence Gray, who almost breaks his neck trying to break her ungovernable temper. This is the second time Gray has appeared opposite Miss Swanson and he demonstrates that he possesses a pleasing personality and a natural, straightforward manner of acting that make him a welcome addition to the ranks of screen leading men.

WILL PRESENT
WARD ISSUE TO COUNCIL SOON

Matter of Increasing Number of Wards to Be Considered
Again

A proposal to increase the number of wards in Appleton for the purpose of giving the city larger representation on the county board probably will be made to the council within a few weeks, according to Alderman C. D. Thompson, First ward, who was appointed chairman of a special committee more than two years ago to investigate the advisability of such action.

The matter was not pushed at the time, however, because of innumerable obstacles which would have made such a change difficult. The school system which existed in the city at that time was perhaps the most difficult situation which would be confronted if the number of wards were increased, but not that the union system has been adopted the issue is expected to come to the front again.

FOLLOW PRECINCT LINES

The committee at that time was considering a plan to double the number of wards. What was considered the most practical way was dividing each ward into two and using present precinct division lines as the new ward boundary lines. This, it was held, would cause the least trouble in the revision of public records. But because the school district boundaries also followed the ward boundary lines to a considerable extent, it was thought best to defer the project until after the adoption of the union school system.

While the plan has not been agitated lately, sentiment in the council for increase in the number of wards has by no means died according to Mr. Thompson. If the plan should be adopted by the council, it would not become effective until the election of 1927, when the terms of the present county supervisors expire. A supervisor must be elected from each ward, and if the number of wards is doubled, the city will have 12 supervisors on the county board instead of 6.

Besides greater representation on the county board, the number of wards should be increased because of the geographical condition of some, the alderman said. Some wards are too large and ought to be more compact, as they become unwieldy in elections as population increases. The new plan of division should take both factors into consideration, he holds.

WOMEN OPERATE BEAUTY PARLOR AT BALL ROOM

A miniature beauty parlor will be in operation Sunday, May 2, at the Cinderella ball room when Miss Ruth Fischer of Milwaukee and a staff of beauty experts will be here to give permanent waves, marcel, manicures and Charleston bobs as a special feature in connection with the dance program at the ball room.

Coo-Sanders Original Night Hawks orchestra will be the special feature on May 16. The orchestra is widely known for its many phonograph records and it formerly broadcast from station KYW in Chicago. This band won the national popularity contest conducted by a radio trade magazine as the most entertaining unit in the country.

CANNOT CIRCULATE PAPERS BEFORE MAY 27

Thursday, May 27, is the first day in which nomination papers for the September primary election may be circulated, according to John E. Hantschel, county clerk.

"The last filing day for nomination papers is Monday, July 26," he said. "Several applications for papers have already been made at this office. As they cannot be used until late in May, we shall not issue any papers of this kind until the first day in which they may be circulated." Mr. Hantschel said.

SCHOOL EXHIBIT OF CLASS WORK SET FOR MAY 3

Annual Demonstration Will Continue for Week at All Schools

Appleton public schools will hold their annual exhibits and demonstrations of class work from May 3 to May 10 inclusive. An attractive feature of the exhibits this year will be the demonstration of class teaching and explanations of teaching methods, in addition to customary display of samples of work done by pupils.

It probably will be impossible to conduct classes on exhibit nights exactly as they are conducted every day and to obtain the average normal results because both children and teachers are laboring under difficulties when reciting and teaching in the presence of observers. It is felt, however, that the demonstrations will give the parents a fairly accurate conception of how the work is carried on in the schools.

The schedule of exhibits in the various schools follows:

Monday, May 3—First Ward, Columbus, Jefferson and Richmond schools.

Tuesday, May 4—Franklin, Lincoln, Washington, McKinley grade school and McKinley junior high school.

Wednesday, May 5—Appleton high school.

Borah Can't Afford Car, But Rides A Good Horse

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington—Senator William E. Borah of Idaho is a strap hanger. He says he can't afford an automobile.

Borah has an interesting face to study. It has a bulldogish look. Not that it's unamiable. A bulldog, unaroused, is an amiable animal, but his visage is blunt, stubby, rough-hewn, with a slight tendency of the upper lip to twitch back occasionally, disclosing an ominous eyeteeth.

Even so with Borah. His face, in repose, isn't fierce, but it suggests a face which, if it grabbed you by the neck, would take a crowbar to pry loose.

Borah's get-up resembles a prosperous farmer—an old-time farmer when there were some prosperous ones left.

As he swings from his strap, he holds his black slouch hat in his free hand. He has a round bald spot on the crown of his head, about three inches in diameter. He could cover it up if he'd brush some of the rest of his hair over it, but he doesn't look as if he'd sway and be afraid to care.

In physical appearance Borah is of the reinforced concrete type. He doesn't look as if he'd break.

I take due note of the fact that Borah can afford a horse, and the kind he rides costs about as much as a reasonably good automobile. Besides, a horse's upkeep these times when he's a curiosity and has to be provided for as such, probably costs more than an auto's would be.

However, the senator doubtless means he can't afford both a horse and an automobile, and, of the two, he prefers a horse.

It's a reactionary attitude. How a man who prides himself on his progressive-ism can assume it, I can't understand. I don't pretend to explain it. I only quote what Borah says.

Lead Discussion Groups During Vocation, Educational Guidance Week

Appletons men and women representing 25 businesses and professions became members of Appleton high school faculty for two hours Thursday morning when each led a discussion group consisting of students interested in the work which her discussion leader is engaged in. This conference period with leaders in the various professions was the main feature of vocational and educational guidance week at the local high school. Each leader was assigned to a room with the students interested in his or her profession. Lists of general questions for discussion were mailed to the students and the group leader a few days ago.

Business men and women of the city who gave their services as guides in the vocational conferences, the profession each represents, and the number of students in each group, follow.

RULE IS ELECTED BOARD CHAIRMAN

Succeeds Former Mayor John Goodland, Jr., as Head of Board of Education

Major Albert C Rule was elected chairman of the board of education to succeed former Mayor John Goodland, Jr., at a special meeting Wednesday afternoon at the office of Superintendent B J Rohan. The board will function only until July 1, at which time the newly elected school commissioners will take office.

The board engaged Ruth Stillman of Shawano for an additional teacher in the biology department of the senior high school next year. Esther Graf of Appleton was engaged to take the place of Esther Austin in the senior high school mathematics department while Miss Austin is away on a year's leave of absence. Selma E Benson of Stoughton was engaged to teach mathematics in place of Jennie Bailey, who will be transferred to the senior high school. Laura Lavermore, who resigned her position as commercial teacher in the senior high school, has reconsidered her resignation and will return next fall.

TWO WOMEN LAW PROFS RESIDE IN CALIFORNIA

San Francisco—(P)—Two of the few women law professors in the United States are members of the faculty of the School of Jurisprudence at the University of California.

In claiming this distinction for the Golden State institution, Professor Orrin Kip McMurray, dean of the law school, said that the University has recognized the ability of women in the legal profession.

"Women's chief difficulty in the legal field has been gaining recognition," he said. "The ability is there, but the fight is for general acceptance of that ability. I believe that in this case, the west has set the pace for the rest of the country."

The two female law instructors at California are Mrs. Barbara N. Grimes and Miss Rosamund Parma. The only other woman to hold this position, Dean McMurray said, is on the teaching staff of the law school of the University of Texas.

The Only Us Sewing club met with Mrs. O. S. Swenson Thursday afternoon.

COLLEGE MAKES RECORD OF SOUTHWEST PLANTS

Clementon, Calif.—(P)—Mounting of 74,000 specimens of the botanical life of Southwest United States, representing five years work, has been completed by the plant department of Pomona College.

In making this announcement, Dr. Philip A. Munz, head of the botany department, declared the herbarium to be one of the largest in the country.

Two years will be required to mount the remaining 174,000 specimens which have been collected. Effort will be made to mount 50,000 each year until the complete array of 250,000 varieties has been cared for permanently.

Ranchers, amateur botanists and school teachers from all over the Southwest visit the Pomona herbarium to identify new weeds or native plants. Special lines of study are conducted by students and teachers from virtually all sections of the country using research statistics gleaned from botanical specimens on exhibit here.

WILL IMPROVE CONDITION OF CHINESE PRISONERS

Peking—(P)—One of the immediate results of the presence in Peking of the international commission, charged with inquiry into China's preparedness for abolition of extraterritoriality, was a new instruction by the Minister of Justice that prisoners in Chinese jails be afforded regular baths. They also must have their hair trimmed and keep their clothing clean. This order followed one that the jails must be renovated.

Under the new regulations the old system of putting heavy chains on the more desperate criminal was altered so that a single shackle was employed. Prisoners are given two meals a day.

The YELLOW STUB

by Ernest Lynn

BEGIN HERE TODAY
HENRY RAND, 55, a business man is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a yellow theater ticket.

JANET RAND, his daughter, breaks her engagement with BARRY OBLIN, because of the "disgrace." JIMMY RAND, his son, goes to Milwaukee, where the theater is. The stub is traced to THOMAS FOGARTY, a political boss, who says he gave it to OLGA MAYNARD, a cabaret singer.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with MARY LOWELL. Late he encounters Olga. She faints at hearing police want her for murder. Mary, out with SAMUEL CHURCH, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lift Olga into a taxi, and misunderstands.

Olga tells police the stub might have come into possession of a man who "picked her up" two nights before the murder. Jimmy receives mysterious warnings to leave Milwaukee and later is attacked by two men, but escapes.

With Jimmy and Mary estranged, Church gets Mary's promise to marry him. Jimmy accuses her of marrying for money.

Jimmy and Olga, out one night, see a man they both recognize—she as the man who got the stub, he as one of his assailants. The man escapes, but they identify him by his police picture as IKE JENSEN.

Church, motoring with Mary, runs over a dog. His heartlessness kindles hatred in her, and she breaks their engagement.

LIEUTENANT O'DAY, a police friend of Jimmy's, invites the latter to dinner. There he tells him of a boyhood romance between Henry Rand and a girl named MARIE REAL that resulted in a break between Henry and his father, Thaddeus Rand, and in Henry's leaving home.

Jimmy goes home to his room to find Barry Colvin. Barry has with him a ring that belonged to Henry Rand.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXIV

Jimmy took the ring from Barry's hand and examined it.

"You say it belonged to dad?" He frowned.

"Janet gave it to me to show you. She ran across it when she went through some papers he had in the safety deposit vault in the bank."

Jimmy frowned. "Just a plain signet ring, I guess it was dad's, all right. Here are his initials, H. R. But I never saw it before. Barry He never wore it."

"There's something on the inside, Jim. Maybe that's why."

Jimmy shot him a peculiar look, then examined the ring again.

His face went very white. "From Marie to Harry," he said slowly, reading the inscription inside the ring. "September 25, 1898. September 23 was my father's birthday. Harry."

He glanced up at Barry. "What did Janet say? Does mother know about it?"

"Janet said your mother knew nothing about it. You see, Jim, the ring was given to your dad after his marriage. That's why Janet didn't want your mother to know."

"Barry, you once asked me if there could have been another woman in dad's life."

"I'm sorry, Jim." Barry reddened.

"There was. I know who this Marie was. Her name was Marie Real. We just heard about her. It was a boyhood romance. Listen."

He sank down on the bed and, with the ring in his hand, he told Barry Colvin the whole story, just as O'Day had told it to him.

"What a pity!" commented Barry when Jimmy was through. "And so they did see each other again, after all—this Marie Real and your father."

"We can only guess. The ring would make it appear so.... Barry, did you ever hear of a concert or stage singer named Marie Real? It would have to be some time back, for she'd be nearly fifty-five years old now."

Barry shook his head.

"Of course," Jimmy went on, "we don't know whether they met accidentally years after they had both left Durban, or whether they were in communication with each other all along."

"Probably the first, Jim. You see, your dad married someone else."

"Oh well, they both might have decided they made a mistake."

Barry shrugged. "I confess it's got me guessing. . . . Do you think it's linked up in any way with the murder?"

Jimmy threw up his hands in a despairing gesture. "Lord knows. . . . I can't see how."

"But if this Marie Real is still living, and we can find her, it might help."

"I'll turn the ring over to Detective Mooney, Barry. Maybe he can do something."

"Of course, she might have had another name, a professional name. It might be possible to trace her through some of the theatrical booking houses and other agencies in New York."

Jimmy was pacing the floor. He stopped. "Is that why you came here, Barry? To show me this ring?"

"Not entirely. I've got some business here. . . . And there's another reason, Jim. Janet wants you to come home. There was another letter."

"You mean—"

"Another one of those unsigned warnings. It's got her pretty scared."

"What did this one say? Did you bring it?"

"No; I gave it to Mooney. It simply said there wouldn't be any more warnings—that you had had your last chance."

"Good! I'm glad there won't be any more," Jimmy laughed, but a trifle nervously.

"Jim, it's got you worried. I'm worried myself."

"Well, to be truthful with you, it's not exactly a pleasant sensation to know I'm being watched like this."

"Oh well. . . . By the way, I saw the man that Olga Maynard went out with that night—the man she said might have got that stub and the handkerchief. He was one of the men who tried to waylay me that night that I wrote you about."

He told Barry the details.

"It might be," Barry said, "that this Ike Jensen is the one who is writing the notes."

"Or somebody he knows," supplemented Jimmy. "There's more than one man mixed up in this. Jensen, he's still in town, isn't taking any chances being seen mailing letters. He's lying low, Barry—for two reasons. In the first place, there was the mixup with me. And then he saw Olga with me and saw Olga recognize him. Lord knows what he thought when he saw us together, but he must have a suspicion that she's told me about the handkerchief."

"Don't think he knows anything about the ticket stub, Barry. I think that fell out of his pocket and he didn't see it. At any rate, it's sufficient to make him hide. . . . I'll bet he's worried sick, wondering how much I know."

"Yes, and how you came to know Olga Maynard."

"What does Mooney think about it? About those letters I've been getting?"

"Well, Mooney, of course, thought he was going to find this H. A. Jones person in Grafton. But he's pretty sure, he says, that these threats against you are all mixed up in some way with the murder. He thinks you ought to leave town and go home. Says if you don't he's going to frame some kind of charge against you and come after you with a warrant. He's worried about you."

Jimmy laughed. "Mooney's a man of direct action—and of originality. No, Barry, I'm not going home until the puzzle is unraveled. . . . You see, as long as I stay here I seem to be a source of irritation to someone who evidently knows a lot about the murder. If I go home, they may never find him. But if I stay the chances are this person will get a little overzealous and make a slip. Then we'll get him."

"If you insist on staying," remarked Barry drolly, "someone's likely to use you for target practice. Or perhaps a knife between the ribs." He went through the pantomime of a dagger thrust.

"That's a little far-fetched, Barry,"

Keep the coupons until after the contest and then send them to the Masked Players Contest Editor, Appleton Post-Crescent.

"No it isn't; not by a long shot."

"How long shall you be in town?"

SEEK TRACES OF ANCIENT RACES IN MANY LANDS

Scientists Are Searching for Specimens Which May Reveal Secrets of Mankind

New York—(P)—In efforts to reveal secrets of the human races long hidden by time and to bring new specimens of life to this country, scientists of the American Museum of Natural History are working in many lands—some in the far stretches beyond civilization.

Not all the work is being done in foreign countries, however, for out in Arizona Erich Schmidt, of the department of anthropology, has made valuable archaeological discoveries.

One important ruin was on top of a mountain where an old cemetery gave up skeletons of people of a past age.

At the request of Phoenix officials, Schmidt examined a ruin there which proved of such historical interest as to merit restoration by the city.

In company with Harvey S. Ladew, who financed the trip, George H. H. Tate is collecting mammals and birds in Peru, Argentina and Bolivia. Dr. Frank M. Chapman, curator of the department of birds; Francis L. Jaques and Raymond Potter are in Panama, collecting specimens of bird life as representative of the American tropics. The party will be away six months.

Working on Maya ruins with the Mason-Spinden expedition, sent out by the Peabody Museum, is Ludlow Griscom, assistant curator of birds. Already he has reported many interesting and heretofore unrecorded facts of existing bird life.

Carl E. Akeley, the explorer and sculptor, is on a big game hunt in Africa for groups to be placed in the new African Hall. He has mounted three gorillas and will obtain material for the physical reproduction of the background which includes studies of the vegetation, color notes and specimens of soil.

In East Africa, Dr. James P. Chapin, associate curator of birds, is with Witt L. Sage and Frank P. Mathews who financed the expedition, collecting birds of the sub-tropical zone. They also will visit Kivu Volcano, the eastern edge of the Congo and through Katanga on their return.

A biological survey of Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands is being conducted by H. E. Anthony, assistant curator of mammals, and C. G. Goodwin under the auspices of the New York Academy of Sciences.

When this is completed, they will make a study of the West Indies to determine if the islands once were parts of a great island continent. Existing forms of life there, many of which require dry land to travel, suggest the islands once joined a mainland rather than having been raised from the floor of the sea by volcanic action.

Clarence's "L" Bay is making an extended trip examining the most recently excavated ruins and other archaeological remains in Mexico, in furtherance of the plans for the new Mexican Hall of Archaeology, proposed for erection at the museum.

Through the patronage of Mrs. Samuel D. Sturgis, wife of Major General Matthew, sailed for Mongolia to visit the fossil fields covered by the Andrews party. In June, the Putnam-Williams expedition to Greenland to collect material for the museum's newly completed Hall of Ocean Life also will set sail. H. C. Raven will head the party, which will include Robert Peary, son of the famous explorer, and Captain Bob Bartlett, who commanded Admiral Peary's vessel on the successful North Pole hunt.

APPOINT COMMITTEE TO PICK PLAY FOR GUILD

A committee was appointed to choose a play to be given by the Catholic Players guild at a meeting of the guild Thursday evening at the Catholic home. It is probable that a three act comedy will be chosen. Rehearsals will begin as soon as the play is selected.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Bannister will have charge of producing the play.

Y. M. C. A. AND LAWRENCE OPEN TENNIS SEASON

Appleton Y. M. C. A. tennis team will play a practice game with Lawrence squad Saturday morning and afternoon on Lawrence courts. Lawrence team was to meet Oshkosh Normal but that meet was called off a few days ago and the association squad agreed to substitute, although it is not yet fully organized. Members of association team will be R. V. Landis, Heber Velkey, Clem Laecke and H. Powers. Lawrence probably will be represented by Heideman, LaBorde, Sund and Hanke.

MOST HAVE POSITIONS

Paris—On the occasion of the recent 25th anniversary of the admission of women to the bar in France it was disclosed that there now are 137 women advocates enrolled at the Paris Bar. Fewer than 20 are practicing barnstars in the courts, however, the others being salaried employees in law offices where they prepare briefs, interview clients, etc.

R. H. Hooper of Shawano was an Appleton visitor Friday. Frank M. Wilson was a Fond du Lac visitor Thursday. Peter Johnson of Milwaukee spent Thursday in Appleton on business.

FRANCE, POLAND CLAIM MME. CURIE

Co-discoverer of Radium, Native of Warsaw, Became French Citizen by Marriage

Paris—(P)—Two countries, France and Poland, contend for the allegiance of Marie Skłodowska Curie, known to all the world as Madame Pierre Curie, co-discoverer with her husband of one of the most treasured of science's secrets—radium.

But Madame Curie herself, though a little touch of homesickness takes her back to Warsaw each summer, received French citizenship when she married Pierre Curie in 1895 and feels that she belongs to the land that holds his "resting grave."

Since she has chosen French nationality there is not a Frenchman alive who would refuse her the title of "the most notable woman in France."

Madame Curie works and lives in the street which the city of Paris has named after her husband. Number One Pierre Curie Street, is one of the newer buildings belonging to the scientific schools of the University of Paris. It is a raw-colored ugly building, surrounded by half-finished laboratories and muddy excavations.

Mme. Curie came into a small waiting room from her laboratory, quietly and unobtrusively slipping through a partly opened door.

"Mme. Curie?"

"I am Mme. Curie." She sat down in one of the little chairs, her interviewer taking one directly opposite. Folding her hands she waited, face expressionless, but with a gleam in the eyes that seemed to say:

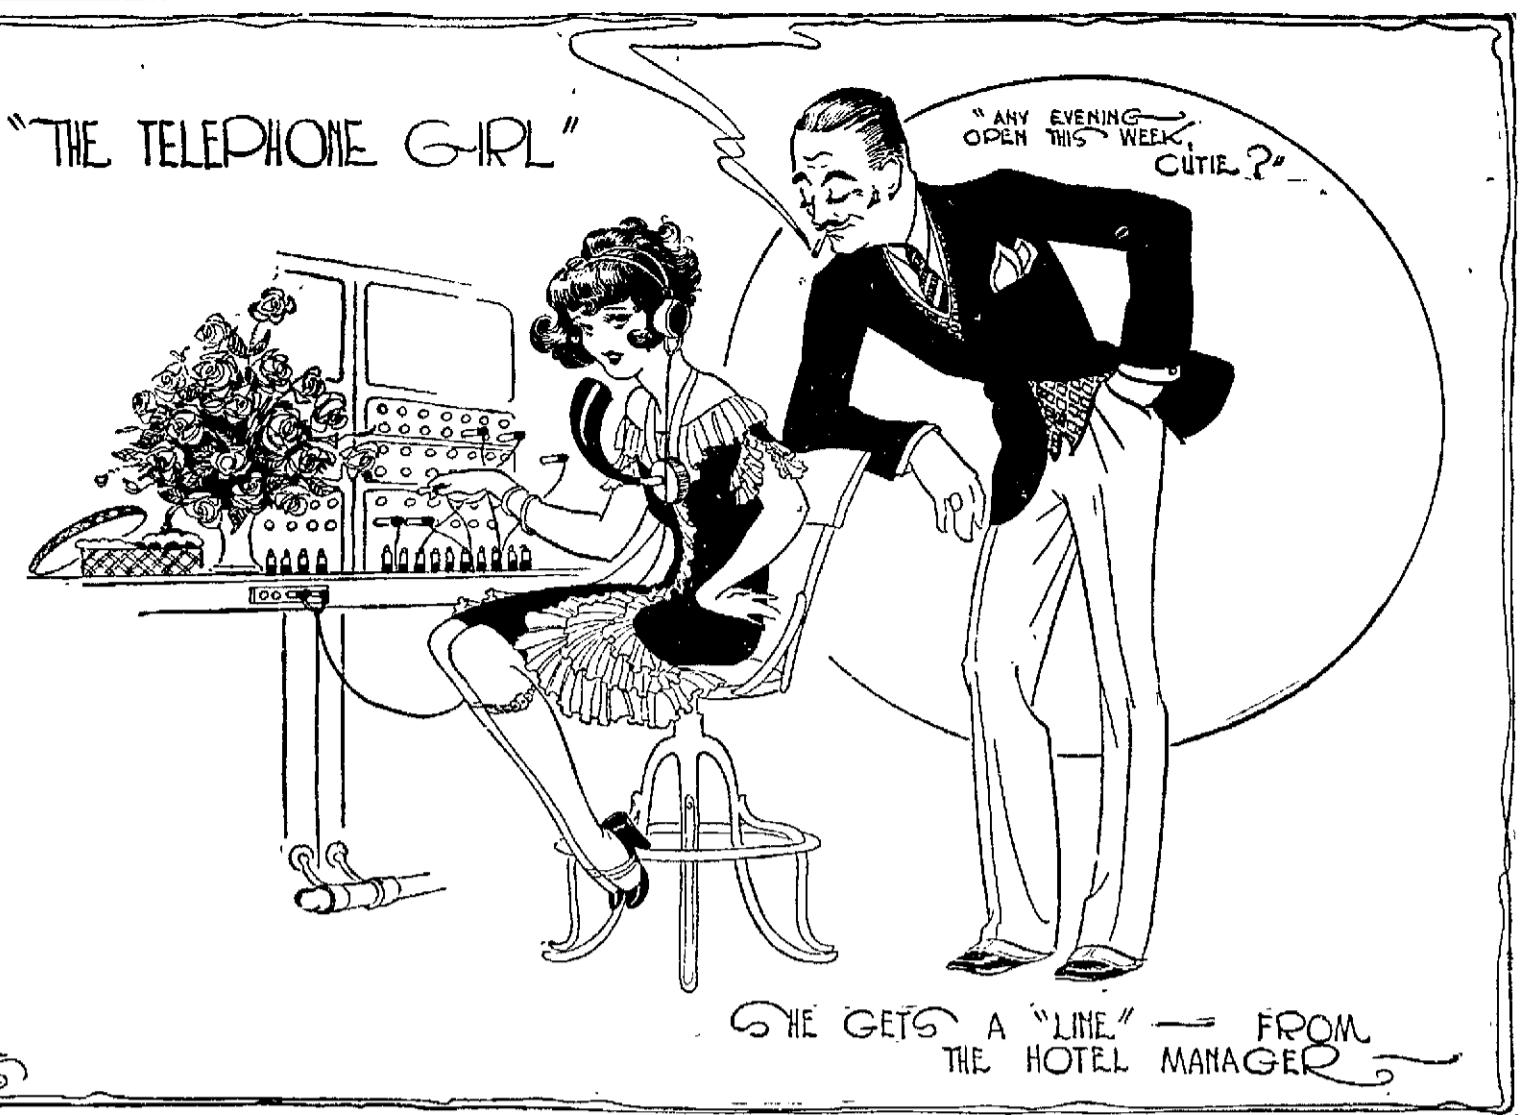

"Now, young man, no nonsense. Keep to the point and we'll get this over with."

A minute passed while she stared the interviewer out of countenance, and into forgetting what he had come for. Her eyes shone steadily, unblinking through her spectacles. The straight, severely-cut black dress seemed to disappear into the background, the odd, old-fashioned shoes were forgotten; Mme. Curie has a pair of keen eyes gleaming like radium in the dark. The rest of her body was dead, but life glowed like a white-hot flame in her brain.

"What do you want to see me for?" Mme. Curie seemed to have startled herself in speaking so suddenly. "It is considered that you are the most distinguished woman in France, Mme. Curie. We are collecting a series of articles on the most notable women of all countries."

Mme. Curie was wholly unmoved. "Yes?" "Were you interested in the study

WHY IS THE "HELLO" GIRL ALWAYS CHEERY?

"Number please?"

And never think she hasn't the number of them all—suave potencies, shiny-haired kiss-conkers and the rest.

A minute passed while she stared the interviewer out of countenance, and into forgetting what he had come for. Her eyes shone steadily, unblinking through her spectacles. The straight, severely-cut black dress seemed to disappear into the background, the odd, old-fashioned shoes were forgotten; Mme. Curie has a pair of keen eyes gleaming like radium in the dark. "Were you interested in the study

Small wonder she "gets a line" from every he-creature who sees her and gives one in return.

It is her demure devilry that keeps that switch-board desk crowded with flower vases and candy boxes—her witchery and her perfect poise.

With dainty hands plucking so skillfully among the tangled cords weaving the thoughts of thousands, she still has a smile and a provocative word for the yearning young thing—or the leering older thing—that waits in the offing.

A thousand cross words she takes every day over the wires—a thousand impatient persons to be pacified. But the smile does not die, nor the voice grow perfunctory.

For she has a world of her own—a world of flowers, pretty clothes and admiration.

So the other world must wait sometimes, while she comes back from the world of dreams, to say:

"Number please!"

AGED CRIPPLE DROWNS SELF AT LA CROSSE

La Crosse—(P)—Despondent over ill health and his crippled condition John C. Grunlein, 82, drowned himself in Swift Creek, a small tributary of the Mississippi. His body was discovered floating in the creek 100 feet below a point where his coat, hat and crutches were found on the bank.

Talk Is Cheap

It takes money to back facts. We will show Milk, Milk Week, which has been held for eight months, and is still in its natural state, so much so, that the solids haven't even separated from the water, and we will defy any milk dealer in the City of Appleton to duplicate our Milk by giving it the same treatment. Our Milk is all assort with the "Contamo-Test," a Bacteria Tester which enables us to assort poor milk, and reject anything which is not up to standard, which we do. We will also show some of the milk rejected by us. These are facts which are undisputed and can't be disputed by anybody. Therefore anybody using our Milk, is secured of getting the Best Milk obtainable. T. B. tested, "Contamo-Tested" and Pasteurized. We pay thousands of dollars in premiums to our farmers producing our Milk in order to enable them to produce Good Milk, and our customers get the benefit. Use Dairy Specialty's Milk and know that you get the Cleanest and Best Milk in the city.

BETTY BLYTHE SETTLES WITH BRITISH PRODUCER

London—(P)—Betty Blythe's damage suit against G. B. Samuelson, British film producer, which had been a feature in the London newspapers for nearly two weeks, was settled out of court Friday to the apparent satisfaction of everybody.

The film star apologized for the things she said about Mr. Samuelson and the latter paid tribute to her ability as an actress. Neither pays the other money under the settlement.

Betty sued the producer for 2,000 pounds salary and expenses which she asserted were due her for filming in Berlin last year of Sir Rider Haggard's "She." Mr. Samuelson entered a counter claim asking the same amount for alleged breach of contract and slander.

Much of the testimony at the trial revolved around Betty's insistence upon changes in the costumes provided her for the picture.

BLAME TIDE PRESSURE FOR VOLCANIC ERUPTION

Washington, D. C.—(P)—That the pressure of tides is twisting the earth and may be an influence in volcanic upheavals is the theory of William Bowie of the United States coast and Geodetic Survey.

In a paper read to the Volcanic section of the American Geophysical Union, in session here, Mr. Bowie said this theory is based on study of the Bering sea where tidal pressure is great because of shallow waters and many islands. He pointed out that the Bering sea abounds in more volcanoes than any other section of the world. It is the theory of E. A. Daly of Harvard university Mr. Bowie said that tides exert an influence in mountain building by their pressure on land.

"Sympathy" that exists between certain volcanoes was cited. Clarence N. Fenner of the Geophysical Laboratory declared that if this relationship could be solved, science would have made great progress in determining the cause of volcanoes.

BIG ADVANCES IN ALL AIR SERVICE

Military and Commercial Aviation Developed Through Research

DAYTON, O.—(AP)— Aviation both military and commercial has been advanced along several lines during the past year by experimentation and research at the engineering division headquarters of the army air service at McCook field.

The developments have pertained to improvement of metals and other materials used in airplane construction to more economical airplane construction, to improvements in designs of planes, and inventions and adaptations of accessories and methods in connection with aviation gave a report of the year's progress.

The predominant trend in military aircraft development has been toward a marked reduction in the number of types of planes required for military purposes. Formerly fifteen standard types of aircraft were considered necessary properly to fulfill all military functions. Today only five general types are required to accomplish the same purpose. The reduction was brought about by designing aircraft in certain instances to perform two or more functions through interchangeable equipment.

The five general types to which planes now conform to meet military requirements are Pursuit bombardment, observation, training and transport.

The first plane built in the United States exclusively for ambulance purposes made its appearance during the year. It accommodates a pilot, a flight surgeon and two patients, the latter being carried in litters in the fuselage. Medical supplies are carried.

Practicality of the Loening amphibian plane for land-water-air use was proved by the MacMillan polar flight, and the photographing tour in the Minnesota watershed region said the report.

New accessories developed during the year included pneumatic landing shock absorbers and the airplane brake. The shock absorbers are telescoping cylinders containing oil and water. The brakes decrease by about one third the distance of roll on the ground after landing.

Engines development has progressed toward its ultimate goal of one pound per horse power. New water-cooled engines weigh one and a small fraction pounds per horsepower. A valuable contribution to this branch of navigation was the air-cooled Liberty engine.

Bombing under conditions formerly considered unsafe, both as to height and clarity of the atmosphere, was improved by a new bomb sight.

Effective results can now be obtained at a height of from 10,000 to 20,000 feet well above the present actual danger zone of anti-aircraft guns.

High-powered incandescent lights have been developed to supplement carbon arcs in aerial beacons, airdrome floodlights and landing field illumination.

Three new instruments—the earth induction compass, the drift sight and the flight indicator—are being perfected for coarse flying through fog and above clouds. A sensitive altimeter has been developed for aiding in aerial photograph work.

New aerial map-making cameras have been invented and developed. Night aerial pictures are now being taken with the aid of flashlight powder dropped from planes. Mapping of air mail lanes and photographing of agricultural fields for crop reports has been successfully undertaken.

One method of government aid to airplane lines in Central Europe is to supply gasoline for airplanes.

The government railway of Argentina is adding twenty locomotives to its present equipment of 538.

Warsaw, Budapest and Prague are among the world's most important air terminals.

MAY FORM THREE BASEBALL LEAGUE IN APPLETON

Desire For Both Hardball And Softball Circuits To Lead To Extensive Plans

Twelve Teams Want Softball and Four Hardball; "Y" to Sponsor New Leagues

Three baseball leagues, two softball and one hardball, may be sponsored in Appleton this summer by the Y. M. C. A. as the result of a meeting held Thursday evening at the association. Though only a few teams had representatives at the meeting others called A. P. Jensen, "T" physical director, to let him know they were interested. Representatives of softball teams at the meeting were from the Bankers, the Post-Crescent, the American Legion and the Y. M. C. A., but reports to Mr. Jensen indicated that twelve industrial plants of the city, including the four already mentioned, desired to put teams in the race.

In this case two softball loops containing six teams each will have to be formed and the winners will meet for the city title in a post-season series. The four teams represented at the meeting all were strong last year. The American Legion squad was Lark League and city champion; the "T" crew, Twilight Loop champ, and challenger of the Legion in the city series; the Post-Crescents, second-place winners in the Twilight loop and champs in that loop in 1924; the Bankers a runner-up and one of the most dangerous squads in the Twilight loop.

FOUR-CLUB LEAGUE
Only one firm was represented in the hardball list, that being the Appleton Wire Works. However, three others have signified their desire to enter the loop, and a four-club circuit may be formed. Mr. Jensen said. The other possibilities are the Kimberly-Clark Co. of Kimberly; the Fox River Paper Co. and Interlake Pulp and Paper Co., both of Appleton.

"Y" DORMITORY NINE MAY PLAY GREEN BAY

A team composed of members of the Appleton Y. M. C. A. dormitory baseball squad, which won the local "Y" indoor title from the Meyer Press, Post-Crescent and Lawyers in a four-club loop this winter, may play the dormitory men of the Green Bay association at the Bay Saturday. The game will be a side attraction to the quintangular swimming meet in which tank teams from Green Bay, Fred du Lac, Appleton, and Wausau, Y. M. C. A. and Lawrence college, will meet. A. P. Jensen, local "T" physical director, is attempting to get the Appleton team together, but if not enough men can get away the tilt will have to be called off. The wrestling match between Lawrence college grapplers and the Bay "Y" team part of the Saturday program already has been canceled as Coach Carl Zoll of the Baymen wrote that he has been unable to get his men around for work since the warm weather "set in."

YANKS SHOW RIVALS HOW TO MAKE RUNS

New York—(AP)—Run power seems to be possessed in large quantities in the New York Yankees this season.

In 1921, they set a modern major league record for runs scored in a season—948 or an average of approximately 6-18 runs a game.

In 1926, they have maintained an average of 7-18 runs a game while the next best mark in either circuit goes to the Chicago Cubs—5-12. The Yankees have totalled 104 runs and the Cubs 82.

RIVAL HIGHS CLASH AT NEENAH TONIGHT

Appleton and Neenah high schools old rivals on the basketball court, will clash in a new athletic rivalry Friday night at S. A. Cook armory, Neenah, when the youngsters meet in an indoor track carnival. Each school has a good team entered in each race and the meet as a whole will be closely contested and interesting. Events on the program are a short dash, tug-of-war, shot put, hop, step and jump, shuttle relay and rope climb. Two girls events also are on the card.

Badger Sluggers To Face Two Old Rivals This Week

Madison—After more than a week of idleness due to wet grounds and cold weather, the University of Wisconsin base ball nine will swing into action with two games over the weekend. The University of Chicago will be met at the Maroons' stronghold on Saturday, while on Monday they will invade LaFayette to clash with the fast traveling nine of Purdue. The Badgers have won one game in the Big Ten race to date but were rained out of a chance to clash with the powerful bat wielders of Illinois last weekend.

The Maroons to date have not been hitting their stride despite the fact

SHORTY'S FIVE BEATS BILL'S SPECIAL CREW

Shorty's Five trounced Bill's Specials twice in three attempts in a pin match rolled Thursday evening on the Elk alleys, taking the fray by 38 maples. Jim Brown of the losers shot a 206, the only double century mark of the battle, for high game and his 548 also was high series. A Paas had high game and series for the winners with a 185 game and a 533 series.

The Shorty crew nabbed the first game by 17 pins only to lose the next by 57 and drop 40 maples to the rear. In the final game, however, a big comeback gave the Shorty pinning a 73 pin win and the match.

Shorty's Five—Won 1, Lost 2—Louis Keller 165, 145, 149, 458; R. Haertel 166, 170, 165, 510; A. Faas 169, 185, 179, 524; R. Merkel 164, 147, 171, 482; J. Bauer 172, 184, 148, 504. Totals $86. $40. $12. 2488.

Bill's Specials—Won 1, Lost 2—M. G. Keller Jr. 169, 187, 181, 557; R. Bernhardt 170, 168, 184, 472; S. E. Stingle 154, 155, 185, 482; J. J. Doerfer 149, 184, 128, 481; Jim Brown 177, 203, 165, 548. Totals $19. $97. 734, 2450.

LITTLE CHUTE LEGION IN VALLEY TUG-OF-WAR

Little Chute — A tug of war team representing the Jacob Cappus post of the American Legion of Little Chute, will compete in the fourth annual Fox river valley contest which will be held Friday evening at S. A. Cook Armory, Neenah. The James Hawley post of Neenah sponsors the annual "pull" which usually sees at least five posts battling for the title. Neenah won the first two contests in 1923 and 1924 and Appleton won in 1925. A silver trophy is presented to the crew which wins the event three times.

Neenah and Appleton high schools will compete in an indoor track and field meet as the feature of the program.

FRANK WALSH STARTS REAL WORK SATURDAY

Frank Walsh, professional of the Butte Des Morts country club, will begin his duties officially on Saturday morning when he will start teaching golf for the season. A large number of club members have already applied for the lessons. Walsh now has installed additional equipment for care of golf clubs. Any members who desire to have their clubs prepared for the playing season can get the work done immediately, he said.

If the weather is favorable, play on the temporary greens will be started this weekend, according to P. C. Wessco, chairman of the tournament and handicap committee. Caddies who were employed at the club last year will start their season Saturday or Monday and several new boys also will be engaged to take care of the club members.

PEZEK FALLS FROM MAT, LOSES MATCH

St. Louis, Mo.—(AP)—Joe Stecher, Dodge City, Neb., heavyweight wrestler, won a three fall match from John Pezek, Rawlins, Neb., here Thursday night when Pezek fell from the mat during the final fall and was injured.

Pezek's head struck the floor and he was carried from the arena in a semi-conscious condition. Prior to the mishap each wrestler had won a fall. Pezek took the first in three hours 15 seconds with a double wristlock and head scissors and Stecher the second with a body seizes in 35 minutes 56 seconds.

Both men showed fatigue in the final chapter and after 40 minutes wrestling were struggling near the ropes when Stecher lifted Pezek and attempted to pin him. Pezek's strangles apparently caused him to fall through the ropes. The referee ruled no foul.

CARL ENGER WINS "Y" HANDBALL TOURNAMENT

Carl Enger won the double elimination handball tournament of the Y. M. C. A. Thursday when he defeated George Pfeiffer two out of three games for the championship match. Pfeiffer took the first game 21-15 and then Enger came back to win 21-16 and 21-15. The meet has been underway

APPLETON BALL CLUB PRACTICES ON STICKWORK

Workouts Held Tuesday and Thursday Evenings at Brandt Park; New Men Out

Bolstered by the presence of a number of newcomers, candidates for the 1926 Appleton baseball club of the Fox River Valley League, went through a short workout Thursday evening at Brandt park under the watchful eye of Managers C. O. Baetz and Elmer Schabo. The stands in the park have been completely wrecked by the storm of last week and the infield still is in terrible condition but the boys put in a good workout.

The stands will be repaired within the next few days and a few improvements will be made on the old stands, especially in the matter of facing. Part of the bleachers will be shifted and the field will be laid in a slightly different direction. The field will need plenty of careful attention before it is ready for a real ball.

Practice Thursday evening consisted mainly of stickwork. The candidates hit the plate and took healthy wallops at the horseshoes in an endeavor to get their batting eyes in

GREEN BAY BOY IS PENN CREW LEADER

Philadelphia, Pa.—(AP)—Donald Irmiger of Green Bay, Wis., was elected captain of the 1926 university of Pennsylvania crew at a meeting of the letter men Wednesday night. Irmiger is a senior and stroked the varsity crew last year. He is 22 years old 6 feet 1 inch in height and weighs 170 pounds.

Louis, "Louie" Loose, well-known cage and diamond star, now director of athletics of the Kohler Co. at Kohler, visited friends in Appleton Thursday. Louis was coach of the Kimberly-Clark Co. eagles last year and before that played baseball with the mill team. His work with the cage squad brought him the job at Kohler where he developed a fine diamond squad last spring and followed it with a better cage team this winter. His cagers won seven-eights of their games and beat the crack Plymouth Eagles and Sheboygan American Legion squads in a tourney for the Sheboygan-co title. He was awarded a silver cup as the most valuable player in the meet.

Practices are being held Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 6 o'clock at Brandt park because all of the players are working men. Sunday afternoons also will be used for practice until the season opens.

Lawrence, "Y" Tank Teams In Quintangular Meet In Green Bay Pool Saturday

Blues, Appleton, Wausau,
Fondy, Green Bay Battle
for Northern Swim Title

Lawrence college's undefeated tank team will invade Green Bay Saturday for a quintangular meet with teams from Wausau, Green Bay, Fond du Lac and Appleton, representing the Y. M. C. A.'s of these cities. The meet will be held in the new Bay "Y" tank and the winner will be crowned champion of Northern Wisconsin, though the meet does not claim to be a title-deciding affair. However, the five organizations represented are the only ones to sponsor swimming teams north of Fond du Lac so that the winner will be the strongest crew in more than half of the state and easily claimant of the northern title.

Wausau is the darkhorse in the event as far as the Blue fish are concerned as the Gebhardtmen have beaten every other squad entered. Fondy was beaten by only one point, however. Koch of Green Bay is champion of the Northwest, which includes eight states, in his events, while Schultz of Fondy is a state and northwest record holder in the short swims. He won two races against the Blues in a meet last week, beating out Cinkosky, star of the local team, in both events. Cinkosky is the all-campus champ for 1926 and high point man for the squad this year. He is expected to be a contender for high point honors in the Bay meet, but Schultz will bother him considerably.

The meet will include 40, 100, and 220-yard dashes, all free style; a 40-yard breast stroke, a 40-yard back stroke, diving and a 160-yard relay. Four places will be awarded in each event counting 5 for first; 3 for second, 2 for third, and 1 for fourth. In the relay, however, 8 points will be given for first, 6 for second, 4 for third and 2 for fourth. Men winning first or second places in any event will be given silver and bronze medals, respectively, and a silver loving cup will go to the winning relay team. With five teams competing, points should be well split up, giving any team a fine chance of coping. Individual performances which net first places will count much for the teams. Coach Gebhardt is pinning his hopes on one or two individual stars and a new relay combination consisting of Klein, Bleier and Colvin of Appleton, and Cinkosky, Mukwanojo, Adethold, all-around man, will be held in reserve in case one member of the quartet is unable to make the trip.

Cinkosky of Lawrence, Koch of Green Bay and Schultz of Fondy are picked to fight for individual honors with a possibility of a Wausau man entering the struggle. Other Blues who are expected to aid in putting the Lawrence team in the race are Bleier, Klein, Dreher, Colvin and Adethold. Dreher is a breast stroke man, Klein and Bleier will enter the 100-yard event and Bleier and Cinkosky will be in the 220. Colvin will enter a short dash and his favorite event, the dives. "Y" SQUAD STRONG

The Appleton "Y" squad will be represented by McInnis, former Blue star; Williamson, Neenah crack tankerman; Runde of Neenah; Breitling, Ryan and Roemer. Three of these men, McInnis, Williamson and Roemer, may be expected to cut into the point melon, with McInnis a favorite to win the diving event if he is in form. He beat Colvin of the Lawrence squad with ease in a dual meet in the "Y" tank Tuesday night. Williamson beat the best Lawrence had in the 220-yard free style and raced to two second places in other free style dash events. Breitling coped the 40-yard backstroke from Cinkosky, Lawrence's best man.

McInnis will have plenty of competition in the dives as Koch, the Green Bay star is a champ in the event and both he and Ammons of Fondy, another crack diver, have beaten Colvin. These four men should stage the closest race of the day in this event. Koch of Green Bay has beaten both Lawrence men, Dreher and Adethold in the breast stroke, while Therm and Koch have done the same in the 220-yard dash. Schultz of Fondy has not been beaten in a 50 or 100-yard free style this year and should take at least the 100-yard even with ease. A comparison of the clashes of the Blues with every team they have met this year, gives them a chance at the meet if they can garner a large number of second and third places as the first places seem fairly evenly split among Green Bay, Fondy, the Blues and the local "Y." Breitling of the Appleton "Y" squad whipped Cinkosky of the Blues in the 40-yard back stroke last Tuesday, the first time the Lawrence man was beaten in the event this year. Cinkosky had trounced both Fondy's and Green Bay's best men in the event so chances are bright for the Appleton "Y" tanker coping the event at the Bay. The rivalry between him and the Blue star at the Bay meet will make the race well worth watching and a close finished assured with the local men in on the big fight.

LAWRENCE TRACK TEAM OPENS YEAR WITH NORMALITES

Many Frosh Stars Get Acid Test Saturday as Denny Tries to Mold Strong Squad

Fresh from competition in the 1926 interclass meet, which ended Wednesday, Lawrence college runners and field artists will get their first real test of the season Saturday afternoon at George A. Whiting field, when the Oskosh Normal track squad invades this city for a dual meet. Many of the place winners in the class competition were frosh and these especially will meet test in their first intercollegiate competition. The team with which Coach A. C. Denny hopes to take Edson and Lake Forest into camp and defend his 1925 state title probably will be moulded from Saturday's results.

Two sets of events in which Denny is expected to have trouble this year will receive severe tests for the Sawdust city teachers have especially strong men in the distances and weights as well as the low hurdles. Freshmen stars will have to be depended on to give the Blues wins in the weights and distances. Denny, who won the half-mile, mile and two mile races in the class meet will be the chief Blue hope in these events and Artz, another frosh will defend the local school's honor in the weights. Kingsbury and Purvis, veterans of last year, and possibly Mueller, a frosh, also will compete in the mile and two-mile, while the remaining half-milers will be chosen from three frosh, Menning, Jones and Shemanski.

Hipke, veteran weight man, may be out because of a strained arm incurred in the javelin throw in the class meet and in that case Artz will have to be supported by only fair help in the weights. Humphrey, a frosh and Hiedeman, a new man at track, can be used in the javelin event. Thompson, a frosh and Bert Nason in the shot; and Humphrey, Barnard and Barfell, all frosh, in the discuss.

In the dashes, Denny will have the strongest part of his track squad with Capt. Stair, state 100-yard champ, Don and Doug Hyde, and Nobles as well as Clark, Fischel and Jones promising frosh. Stair and the Hydes will run in both the century and 220 with Clark to aid in the 100 and Nobles in the 220-yard race. In the 440, the Hyde boys probably will be aided by Fischel and Jones, Fischel won the event in the valley.

"Y" SQUAD STRONG

The Appleton "Y" squad will be represented by McInnis, former Blue star; Williamson, Neenah crack tankerman; Runde of Neenah; Breitling, Ryan and Roemer. Three of these men, McInnis, Williamson and Roemer, may be expected to cut into the point melon, with McInnis a favorite to win the diving event if he is in form. He beat Colvin of the Lawrence squad with ease in a dual meet in the "Y" tank Tuesday night. Williamson beat the best Lawrence had in the 220-yard free style and raced to two second places in other free style dash events. Breitling coped the 40-yard backstroke from Cinkosky, Lawrence's best man.

McInnis will have plenty of competition in the dives as Koch, the Green Bay star is a champ in the event and both he and Ammons of Fondy, another crack diver, have beaten Colvin. These four men should stage the closest race of the day in this event. Koch of Green Bay has beaten both Lawrence men, Dreher and Adethold in the breast stroke, while Therm and Koch have done the same in the 220-yard dash. Cinkosky had trounced both Fondy's and Green Bay's best men in the event so chances are bright for the Appleton "Y" tanker coping the event at the Bay. The rivalry between him and the Blue star at the Bay meet will make the race well worth watching and a close finished assured with the local men in on the big fight.

ROUGHNECKS WALLOP RINKYDINKS, 28-7

Appleton's baseball season was opened with a bang Wednesday afternoon at Rinkydink ball park when the Roughnecks stugged out a 28-7 win over the Rindinks team. Clarence Bauerfeind, a hurler and Jimmy Linden poked out home runs to start the season right.

The lineup of the winners was: Davison, c.; Bauerfeind, p.; M. Greene, 1b.; J. Doro, 2b.; Blob, 3b.; J. Linden, ss.; D. Greene, rf.; W. Dumke, lf.; Doro, cf.

The Roughnecks challenge any ball team in Appleton between the ages of 8 and 14. Managers are requested to phone Bernard Blob at 2494 or Clarence Bauerfeind at 2875, for games.

Cliff Courtney are ready for the vault; Barnard, a frosh can show well in the high jump, and Rohan, another frosh, is a good broad jumper.

In the low hurdles, the Hyde twins again scintillate, although the Normal's best man is entered in this event. However, the local boys beat him last spring. Rohan, the man who tied the veteran Bayer, in his pet event, the high hurdles, also may get a chance in the low sticks and Mueller may also try the event. In the high hurdles, Rohan, an unknown quantity will get the acid test. He tied a vet in Bayer in the class meet but has never been under intercollegiate fire. Bayer and Mueller will complete the high stick team.

Oshkosh Normal entrants are:

100-yard dash—Bogucki, Baxter and Miller; 220-yard dash—Bogucki, Baxter and Lyons; 440-yard dash—Miller, H. Wright and Cooper; Half mile run—Lindsey, Wagner and Knutzen; Mile run—Lyons, Donohue and Skinner.

Two mile run—Saari and Anderson.

120-yard high hurdles—Clow, Peter-son and Durdus; 220-yard low hurdles—Clow, Harlan and MacNicholl; Shot put—Wright, Elwood and Zimmerman; Discus throw—Cooper, Wright, Jensen, Elwood and Zimmerman.

Javelin throw—Jensen, Saari, Wright and Zimmerman; Pole vault—Wall and A. Wright; High jump—Leabey, Wall and Pearcy; Broad jump—Lyons, Bogucki, Wall and Baxter.

TWELVE SCOUTS PASS TESTS FOR PROMOTION

Twelve Appleton scouts passed promotion tests at the district court of honor held Thursday evening in the Appleton high school gymnasium and will receive their badges and prizes at the district rally to be held May 13. The court was conducted by C. Willard Cross, court of honor chairman, and Herber Heble, scout commissioner.

Tests were given in various phases of scouting work, and the boys were inspected for personal appearance, cleanliness, correct bearing and carriage. Six boys passed the second class scout test, five passed the first class test and one was successful in passing two merit badge tests.

The rally on May 13 will be open to the public. This affair was first scheduled for May 8, but was postponed because of school exhibit week.

DEATHS

MRS. LOUIS LEHMAN

Mrs. Louis Lehman, 73, died at 10:30 Thursday evening at her home in the village of Bear Creek. Mrs. Lehman, formerly Miss Phoebe Beauvais, was born on Feb. 6, 1873 to Louis Lehman. The couple lived at St. Abustine for a time and later moved to Boston. Fifty years ago they located on a farm in the town of Deer Creek and six years ago moved to the village of Bear Creek. Mr. and Mrs. Lehman celebrated their golden wedding anniversary five years ago.

The Council earnestly requests the property owners and tenants to cooperate with the department having this matter in charge to the end that we may have a cleaner, more sanitary and sightly city.

GIVE DRAINAGE CONTRACT TO IOWA COMPANY

Black Creek, Center and Freedom Project Will Cost About $22,000

Mulgren & Sons, contractors of DuQuoin, Iowa, were awarded the contract for the drainage project in district No. 6. Thursday afternoon by the county drainage board composed of Louis Wurtz and H. W. Wickert of Appleton, David Hodges of Hortonville, and L. M. Schindler, county surveyor.

Mulgren & Sons' bid was 9 cents a yard for earth excavation and $3 a yard for rock. At this rate, Mr. Schindler estimates, the total cost of the project will be between $20,000 and $22,000.

Black Creek, Center, and a section of Freedom are the towns included in the project. Work will be started in June and the entire project will be completed by Dec. 1.

Plans indicate that work will be started at Five Corners and from there will be extended over the rest of the territory affected. When completed, the work will assure continuous cultivation on land which now is useless much of the time, Mr. Schindler pointed out.

Another contract, in Waupacadistrict No. 2, between Readfield and Fremont, covering about 9,200 feet of tile drainage, was awarded to Anthony Tomson of Fond du Lac, Tuesday evening, according to Mr. Schindler.

Labor cost was bid at $2,600 and tile, 14-inch and 18-inch, at $3.180.

With other costs the total bid probably will be somewhat more than $6,000, Mr. Schindler said. Work will be started about the middle of June.

FINISH TESTING HERE THIS WEEK

1,909 Reactors Found Among 60,234 Cattle Tested Thus Far

Area testing for eradication of tuberculosis among cattle in Outagamie co. will be completed by Saturday, with exception of a few herds in the town of Ellington, according to Dr. E. H. Borman, head of the work in the county.

Up to the present 3,433 herds have been tested, a total of 60,234 head. Reactors, or infected cattle, number 1,909 head to date. Of these 1,618 were grade cattle, while 291 were purebreds. A total of 827 infected herds were found.

During the week ended last Saturday 178 herds with 3,399 head were tested. Seventy-one reactors were discovered in 41 herds.

INSURANCE COMPANY ESTABLISHES RECORD

Agents for the Equitable Life Insurance Society of the United States in a recent ten day membership campaign wrote 40,710 life insurance applications for $181,030, 967 and group insurance amounting to $19,612,500, making a total of $183,703,467. This is believed to be a record for life insurance underwriting, according to Frank Cattin, local representative of the company. All representatives received letters of commendation from W. A. Day, New York, president of the society.

The record established this year exceeds last year's ten day campaign by 7,714 applications and $31,936,094 of insurance.

DAFFODILS IN FULL BLOOM AT PAPER PLANT

Charles Gust, gardener at the Appleton Coated Paper company boasts of having the only bed of yellow daffodils in full bloom in Appleton. The daffodils, about 200 of them, are planted in three rows along the south side of the mill office and have reached full growth and full bloom and attract a great deal of attention.

The daffodils are an early spring type and are planted in fall. With the first warm breezes they begin to grow and are among the first spring flowers.

PRINT BOOK ON H. S. HISTORY

Pamphlet Will Be Given to Students Entering Senior High School Next Fall

Student handbooks containing useful information regarding the customs, traditions, rules and regulations and other interesting facts about Appleton high school will be published and distributed to students entering the sophomore class from the junior high schools next fall. It was decided at a meeting of the student council Wednesday afternoon. The first edition of the handbook was printed last September.

Plans were made at the council meeting for parents' visiting day program and school exhibits on May 5. The council will maintain an information booth in the corridor so that parents and other visitors may easily find their way about the school. Council members will paint signs for the doors of all the class rooms to guide guests to the various demonstrations and exhibits. Students on the council will act as ushers and distribute programs for the Hyde extemporaneous speaking contest in the evening, the closing event of visitors and exhibit day.

HAPPY TRAVELER SPENDS NIGHT IN POLICE STATION

Frank Smith, who hails from Shawano and is now enroute to Minneapolis, was an unwilling guest of the city from Thursday evening until Friday morning, after he had convinced Patrolman Bliss Carnes that he was in danger of involuntarily changing his position from vertical to horizontal Thursday evening.

Smith staggered into the Appleton Junction station at about 9 o'clock, decidedly happy, but erratic. After an elaborate demonstration of instability, he found a strong support in Policeman Carnes, and later a lodging place at the police station. When Smith appeared in municipal court Friday morning he was released by Judge Berg, with a few words of good advice. Smith promised to leave Appleton at once.

New Dresses for the Mature Figure--in Sizes 40 to 46

Street and Afternoon Dresses of New Materials

Satin Striped Crepe Dresses — $25.

STRAIGHT BACKS AND THE POPULAR APRON FRONTS make smart satin striped crepe dresses. In lovely black, this model makes the figure look especially slim. The striped effect aids in the slim appearance. For afternoon and street wear, this dress will be charming. PRICED AT ONLY $25.

Dunwoodie Crepe Dresses — $29.50

LOVELY FROCKS OF THE NEW DUNWOODIE CREPE are in either navy blue or burnt almond tan. One of the models has sleeves trimmed with a flat machine embroidery in a lighter shade of tan and gold. A stole collar is becoming to the rather full neck. This material has a beautiful rough finish. PRICED AT $29.50

Polka Dot Dresses — $35.

DOTTED DRESSES ARE ESPECIALLY NEW and are lovely for summer wear. Black and navy blue have dots of tan and white, and there are tan shades with colored dots. Some of the models have a vest and small turnbacks at the cuffs of the same color as the dot, and are charmingly youthful. PRICED AT $35.

New Tucked Faille Dresses — $39.50

TUCKS FROM THE NECK TO THE HEM are features of these golden tan faille dresses. Some have pin tucks and others are in the quarter inch width. These tailored models are good for street wear, and are a lovely weight for spring. They have small tailored collars and smart turned back cuffs. PRICED AT $39.50.

Flat Crepe and Elizabeth Crepe Dresses — $50.

AFTERNOON DRESSES IN ELIZABETH CREPE are more elaborate in design. There is one blonde model with lovely cut out embroidery in metal and silk threads, and it has slender panel trimming on the sides. Navy flat crepe dresses are simpler in design—some have a straight back and apron front and are trimmed with a petal effect in the material. PRICED AT $50.

Crepes are especially fashionable this season, and the new flat and Elizabeth crepes are among the most popular because of their fine quality and heavy weight. They are youthful but are carefully designed to make the figure look more slender.
